Field For Algerian Election Dominated By Right-Wingers

Only Few Independent Moslems File

ALGIERS (AP)—A smattering of independent Moslems showed up at the last minute Sunday night as candidates for the French Parliament, but right-wingers favoring Algeria's unconditional integration with France dominated the field.

At 11 p. m., one hour before the end of the filing period, a total of 38 party lists had been registered with the Central Vote Control Commission for the Nov. 28-30 legislative elections in Algeria's 18 districts. All districts were represented.

The total number of candidates was 139, including 92 Moslems. There were five Moslem women among the candidates.

The party lists continued to be of overwhelming right-wing tendency.

Only three of the parties held tendencies that could clash with the firm integration policy advocated by the right-wing European settlers.

These were Socialists in Bougie and Bone and a new party in the port of Philippeville. The new party seeks peace in the revolt-torn territory and emphasizes support for Premier Charles de Gaulle's program to raise the economic and political life of the Arabs and Berbers who make up nine-tenths of Algeria's population.

De Gaulle has sought to get all shades of Moslem opinion into the campaign, inviting even Moslems who want independence from France to run for the new republic's National Assembly.

The bulk of independent-thinking Arab and Berber leaders shied away from jumping into the campaign. Some French colonial liberals snubbed de Gaulle's open invitation to run and even called the elections a farce.

Fear of reprisals from the nationalist rebels, who oppose the vote as a roadblock to their campaign for independence, and apathy of a largely illiterate population were factors.

French colonial right-wingers and their Moslem associates comprised most of the candidates on

Ike-Edgar Golf Match Rained Out

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A cold rain washed out President Eisenhower's plans for an early round of golf Sunday with his par-breaking brother, Edgar.

The drizzle kept the President indoors at Edgar's suburban home at American Lake. They had planned to play at the nearby Tacoma Golf and Country Club—a course they played together occasionally some 20 years ago when the President was stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The President arrived by plane late Saturday to spend a quiet weekend with attorney Edgar and his wife. Monday morning he will travel on to neighboring Seattle for a speech at a ministerial meeting of Colombo Plan nations.

In that address—to be carried nationwide on NBC radio at 10:30 a. m. PST—Eisenhower will outline a program of economic aid for South and Southeast Asia.

He plans to fly back to Washington shortly after the talk, arriving in the capital Monday evening.

At a news conference, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower's speech will be "a review of what the United States has done and what we are going to continue to do" in providing economic aid for the free nations of Asia.

Russian VIP Turns Up For Geneva Talks

Kuznetsov, Deputy Minister, Outranks Western Delegates

GENEVA (UPI)—Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov, one of the Kremlin's top diplomatic troubleshooters, arrived here unexpectedly Sunday to head a 25-man Russian delegation to the East-West conference on surprise attacks.

The dispatch by Moscow of such a high-level official was seen by diplomatic sources here as indicating a possible Kremlin move to break the political impasse with the West.

Kuznetsov, a leading Soviet foreign policy expert, outranks U. S. delegation Chief William C. Foster, a former deputy defense secretary, and other Western delegates to the conference opening here Monday.

To Coordinate Strategy

Western diplomats were convinced that Kuznetsov also would take charge—if only from behind the scenes—of Soviet strategy in the deadlocked Geneva talks on an East-West nuclear test ban.

They believed he may have been dispatched by the Kremlin to try to get the nuclear talks, going on in Geneva since Oct. 31, off dead center at last.

Kuznetsov, a suave grey-haired man who speaks good English, was met at Geneva airport by a large group of Soviet officials, including Semyon Tsarapkin, chief Soviet delegate to the nuclear talks. Kuznetsov was treated with the deference obviously reserved for very senior officials.

"Do Our Best"

He asserted the Russians "will do our best to make this conference a step toward bettering the international situation and lessening danger of a new war." Asked by newsmen whether he would head Soviet delegations to both sets of talks, Kuznetsov replied, "No comment."

In a note to Russia Friday, the United States warned that it wants a technical agreement—and not political haggling—at the conference on means of preventing a surprise attack. The note said any political decisions would be out of the scope of the talks.

Cuban Rebels Proclaim Truce

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The rebel high command Sunday announced a 30-hour cease-fire around Santiago de Cuba pending the release to the International Red Cross of 25 passengers seized during the hijacking of a Cubana airliner.

Rebel broadcasts said a truce with government troops would be effective at midnight Sunday, halting shooting in the Alto Songo area 20 miles north of Santiago and along the road to Dos Caminos, 10 miles west of Santiago. The truce expires at 6 a. m. Tuesday.

All of the passengers to be freed are Cubans except one U. S. Navy aviator. He is Robert M. Montgomery of Miami, Fla. All are captured when rebels took over a DC3 airliner at gunpoint last Tuesday and forced the pilot to land in rebel-held territory.

Rebels said they also held 120 prisoners, some wounded, for delivery to Red Cross representatives. Rebels claimed they have captured more than 100 government soldiers in skirmishes in Oriente within the last 10 days.

Among the Democrats' present 62 members, there are 17 who generally fall in the middle-of-the-road category and 15 who are counted as conservatives.

The classifications may change somewhat when Alaska elects two senators Nov. 25.

The informal breakdown indicates the conservatives have the largest bloc among the 34 Senate Republicans with 14. Eleven are listed as middle-of-the-road and nine as liberals.

Dad Won't Give Up Hope For Girl Asleep 7 1/2 Years

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—Day after day, a man visits a quiet room in Martha T. Berry Memorial Hospital in this southeast Michigan town.

He inquires about the patient, who sleeps.

Harold Schmittling still hopes his daughter will awaken, although she has slept for seven and a half years.

Schmittling and his wife hardly have let a day go by since April 1951 without a visit to their unconscious daughter, Delores.

Schmittling, a social worker, goes to the hospital after work five days a week. His wife takes his place on weekends when she is feeling well enough. She underwent surgery for a slipped disc a year ago.

The Schmittlings have another daughter, who is married.

Delores, now 25, became ill and complained of severe headaches shortly after she graduated from high school.

The ailment was diagnosed as malignant hypertension, a type of high blood pressure that develops rapidly.

An operation was performed to sever nerves in her back and control her high blood pressure.

"She never regained consciousness," Schmittling said.

Although Delores' sleep of seven and a half years is remarkable, it is not a record.

Dr. John S. Meyer, chairman of the neurology department of Wayne State University, said that in one case a man slept 18 years.

Dr. Meyer said patients who recover from coma have no recollection of the event. They do not dream or suffer.

Jurisdictional Fights Threaten New Labor Split

WASHINGTON (AP)—Behind the outward facade of solidarity in the merged AFL-CIO is a growing union family quarrel that could again split organized labor.

It involves the same internal problem of job rights as between unions that divided the labor movement in 1935 into the warring AFL and CIO.

First the former AFL building trades, and now the former AFL metal trades unions have worked themselves into a feud with the industrial-type unions of the former CIO. The latter are now banded together in the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO. Walter Reuther heads the IUD.

Basically, the dispute is the one that has always existed—conflicting claims of work jurisdiction. Each union and type of union claims work rights for its members that clash with jurisdictional claims of other types of unions.

The AFL-CIO has tried to keep the fussing in the family and out of public print, but the fact is the bickering has been growing noisy enough to attract attention.

At a hearing a few days ago before a committee named by AFL-CIO President George Meany to try to iron out the feud between the metal trades unions and the IUD, Peter T. Schoemann, head of Meany's Plumbers Union and an AFL-CIO vice president, took the floor in anger.

"I believed in the merger," Schoemann said, "because I believed both industrial and craft unions, as the AFL-CIO constitution states, are equal, appropriate and necessary, and that both could live together in one federation."

"With each passing day since December 1955—when the merger took place—my hopes for a unified labor movement dwindled, and I am skeptical of the future."

Fake Bomb Found At Jewish Center

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—A shoebox containing a railroad fuse—rigged to resemble a dynamite bomb—was found Sunday on the porch of a Jewish center on the University of Missouri campus.

The bomb was "not very dangerous," a police officer said, but he added that it contained batteries, a timing device and a complex electrical circuit. Officers said they had no idea what motive lay behind the planting of the gadget.

Sherwin Sampra, freshman student from Chicago, said he found the green shoebox at 10:10 a. m. on the porch of Hill House, a building used for study, worship and social activities by Jewish students.

Eight Carloads Of Ammo Explode Near Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Eight boxcars loaded with Army 105-millimeter shells and hand grenades exploded Sunday when one of the cars derailed during switching operations at the Southern Railroad Company's Norris yards near here.

A volunteer fireman, Charles E. Clem, 25, of nearby Irondale, suffered a fractured skull when he was struck by a flying object. Twisted wreckage and debris thrown into the air by the explosions rained down on the surrounding area setting trees ablaze.

The rest of the Irondale volunteer fire crew scrambled to safety as the blasts rocked the area and rattled windows 12 miles away.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Lewis and the Lewis children, aged 11 years to six weeks, were found in the tightly closed car Saturday afternoon by three hunters returning from a crow hunt in the swamp.

All had been asphyxiated by deadly carbon monoxide gas, introduced into the car via a vacuum cleaner hose which led from the muffler up through a floorboard. The car's exhaust pipe had been stoppered with a wadded rag.

Commonwealth's Atty. Peter M. Axson said the tragedy followed by only a few hours a wiener roast and picnic at the scene by the Lewis clan.

Mrs. Lewis and the five children—Allison, 11; Earl Jr., 6; Martin, 4; Douglas, 17 months and Martha, 6 weeks—probably were unaware they were breathing the deadly gas when they went to sleep in the car late Friday night or early Saturday, the commonwealth's attorney said.

Five Perish In Fire

CORBIN, Ky. (AP)—A family of five perished in a fire which swept their home Saturday night despite a neighbor's attempt to awaken them.

State Trooper Jack Murphy said the four-room dwelling at nearby East Bernstadt flared up and was gone in a few minutes.

He identified the dead as William Hubbard, 28; his wife, Jean, 26; their son, Edward, 3; and Hubbard's brothers, Cecil, 24, and Earl, 20.

Old Apartment House Turned Into Inferno

MONTREAL (AP)—Fire swept through a downtown apartment building early Sunday, leaving five known dead and at least 18 persons missing and feared dead.

Firemen Sunday night worked through the rubble looking for bodies. The searchers moved cautiously because of fear that the walls of the four-story building might collapse. It was expected the search would take two or three days.

Sgt. Jean Langevin said the five known dead are four men and a woman. He set the tentative missing figure at 18 but said the toll cannot be counted until all the occupants are accounted for.

The bachelor-type apartments housed about 100 persons, including many European immigrants and several night club dancers. It is in an area just nine blocks west of Dominion Square and Windsor railway station.

Walls To Be Pulled Down

A building wrecker is to pull down the remaining walls Monday to permit the search to go on without fear of a cave-in.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Witnesses told of hearing two explosions in the building, but Col. Maurice Forget, president of the Quebec Natural Gas Corp., quoted fire officials as telling him there were none.

The flames flashed through the old four-story building with such fury and speed that the block was turned into a hysterical stampede. Some persons jumped out of windows to safety.

Some of the five bodies pulled from the debris were burned beyond immediate identification.

Firemen formed human chains in searching for the missing. Fearful of weakened floors collapsing, they clung to one another in poking through what remained of the upper stories of the building.

At Least 10 Injured

At least 10 persons were injured, five seriously enough to be hospitalized.

The fire was checked before spreading to a Roman Catholic home for epileptic children in the rear. Nuns prayed and placed pictures of saints in windows facing the menacing flames.

Witnesses said the blaze broke out about 1:45 a. m. Most of the residents were sleeping at the time.

The wing of the block destroyed contained 47 small apartments and furnished rooms.

Dorothy C. Fisher, Noted Novelist, Dies

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Dorothy Canfield Fisher, a quiet, motherly-looking woman who forged a remarkable career as novelist, scholar, translator and educator, died Sunday amid the Vermont hills she loved. She was 79.

She became famous for the novels she wrote before World War I and in the years shortly after—"The Squirrel Cage," "The Bent Twig" and "The Deepening Stream" were outstanding among them.

In recent years she became known for her articles and non-fiction, and as a judge on the Book of the Month Club selection board.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—President Eisenhower Sunday reassured Nationalist China that the United States will not bow to Chinese Communist force or threat of force.

The White House pledge was received in Taipei as Red artillery peppered four of the Nationalist Quemoy offshore islands with sporadic light barrages under the Communists' alternate-day bombardment plan.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said the Red guns started shelling 35 minutes after midnight Sunday and by evening had lobbed a total 526 rounds against the offshore islands.

President Eisenhower's message, written at his direction by Acting Assistant Secretary of State J. Graham Parsons, was delivered to the Nationalist Chinese chapter of the Asian Peoples Anti-Communist League.

Signs Indicate Nasser-Jordan Backstage Deal

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Various signs pointed Sunday to a backstage deal for closer cooperation between King Hussein's regime and President Nasser's United Arab Republic. It might bring an era of tranquility to Jordan.

In any case Nasser's appeal in the Middle East as a symbol of Arab unity appears such that Hussein could not afford to oppose him indefinitely.

Diplomatic relations between Cairo and Amman were broken off when Nasser recognized the Iraqi Republic in July, coincident with American and British troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan.

A highly placed Jordan official now is saying resumption of relations with the U.A.R. are "not unnatural," and adding that Nasser's every step toward friendlier relations will evoke a favorable response from the Jordanians.

The same official said a special meeting of the Arab League is likely soon to take up the question of Arab cooperation and Jordan's financial situation, which is poor.

These prospects are apparently one factor in Hussein's decision to start Monday on a long-deferred vacation in Europe. The young monarch is leaving the throne in the hands of a three-man regency council, but real power will rest in the hands of Premier Sami Rifai until the King's return in early December.

Hussein told his people in a broadcast Sunday he "will return soon to Jordan to resume with you work for the good of the country."

In a speech last week he said Jordanians must forget their disputes with other Arab states and bury feuds menacing Arab brotherhood. The newspaper Falastin gave big play to a story saying Jordan will soon take very important steps to bolster Arab unity. The paper did not say what these would be, but the implication was they would affect relations with the U.A.R.

Meanwhile, Nasser has silenced his anti-Hussein propaganda barrage and lifted his economic blockade of Jordan. He has reopened Jordan's normal land-air communications with and across U.A.R. territory.

Flying Boat Disappears Off Portugal

Searchers Find No Sign Of Craft; Six Americans Aboard

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Air and sea searchers fanned out off Portugal's coast Monday in an intensive hunt for a flying boat and its 36 passengers and crew forced down on the Atlantic.

More than 12 hours after the plane sent a distress call at 1:20 p. m. Sunday (8:30 a. m. EST) there was no sign of it.

Six Americans were on the passenger list.

Vitor Veres, Portuguese director of civil aviation, said in a statement at 1 a. m.: "Although the most contradictory information is being spread . . . all that is known is that . . . it announced it was going to make an emergency landing."

Veres said the area where the twin-engined plane is believed to have gone down, 180 miles west of Cape St. Vincent, is being combed "with all intensity and minuteness possible during the night and the morning."

More Portuguese air force planes will be sent from Lajes Air Force base to bolster the hunt at daylight, he said.

Waves Six Feet High

The pilot of a KLM line plane that diverted its Brazil-Lisbon flight to help in the search said on arrival here that waves were at least six feet high in the area where the plane reported it was going down.

The KLM pilot, Lucas Albert de Ruyter, said he saw numerous ships searching through the area.

His report of the heavy swell cast further doubt on an unconfirmed report that the downed plane had been sighted trying to make its way back on one engine toward the Portuguese coast.

The U.S. Embassy said the sighting report came from an American search plane sent out from Casablanca which also reported it was trying to guide the flying boat back to shore by radio contact.

No other plane or surface vessel that joined in the search had any similar account. The flying boat's radio transmitter went out after sending a distress signal. Some flying men said it would be impossible for the flying boat to taxi back.

The British pilot of the plane, Capt. Jim Bradbert, was a record-breaking flier in the prewar era. He set a solo flight record of 5 days 4 hours 21 minutes from Australia to England in 1938, a record that still stands.

Sister Plane's Search Futile

A sister seaplane of the newly formed Portuguese airline Artop returned without news from a flight over the area where the flying boat was reported down.

"We did not see the plane or make any contact with her," Artop's director, Cmdr. Cencio Ferreira, said on his return.

He went as he reported on the search plane's vain quest.

The weather was reported clear and the sea calm but with a heavy swell.

The six Americans aboard were listed as Lazarus Kohlmann and his wife Janice; Dorothy Slater and Louis Charles Slater; Henry Hurd Rennie; and Dr. George W. Long. No hometowns were listed.

Dr. Long was identified in Washington, D.C., as an assistant editor of the National Geographic Magazine, connected with the magazine for the past 13 years, he was on an assignment in the Madeiras. Dr. Long has a wife and three children.

The other of the 30 passengers were listed as 7 Germans, 5 Britons, 3 Belgians, 2 Frenchmen and 7 Portuguese. The pilot and co-pilot were British and the other four crew members Portuguese.

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Two gunmen suspected of robbing a liquor store shot and killed a policeman at a road block Sunday and fled into nearby foothills, touching off a large manhunt.

The victim of the shooting was Raymond McMaster, 31, described by Police Chief Myron Tee-garden as "one of the best officers I had."

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Various signs pointed Sunday to a backstage deal for closer cooperation between King Hussein's regime and President Nasser's United Arab Republic. It might bring an era of tranquility to Jordan.

In any case Nasser's appeal in the Middle East as a symbol of Arab unity appears such that Hussein could not afford to oppose him indefinitely.

Diplomatic relations between Cairo and Amman were broken off when Nasser recognized the Iraqi Republic in July, coincident with American and British troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan.

A highly placed Jordan official now is saying resumption of relations with the U. A. R. are "not unnatural," and adding that Nasser's every step toward friendlier relations will evoke a favorable response from the Jordanians.

The same official said a special meeting of the Arab League is likely soon to take up the question of Arab cooperation and Jordan's financial situation, which is poor.

These prospects are apparently one factor in Hussein's decision to start Monday on a long-deferred vacation in Europe. The young monarch is leaving the throne in the hands of a three-man regency council, but real power will rest in the hands of Premier Sami Rifai until the King's return in early December.

Hussein told his people in a broadcast Sunday he "will return soon to Jordan to resume with you work for the good of the country."

In a speech last week he said Jordanians must forget their disputes with other Arab states and bury feuds menacing Arab brotherhood. The newspaper Falastin gave big play to a story saying Jordan will soon take very important steps to bolster Arab unity. The paper did not say what these would be, but the implication was they would affect relations with the U. A. R.

Meanwhile, Nasser has silenced his anti-Hussein propaganda barrage and lifted his economic blockade of Jordan. He has reopened Jordan's normal land-air communications with and across U. A. R. territory.

Flying Boat Disappears Off Portugal

Searchers Find No Sign Of Craft; Six Americans Aboard

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Air and sea searchers fanned out off Portugal's coast Monday in an intensive hunt for a flying boat and its 36 passengers and crew forced down on the Atlantic.

More than 12 hours after the plane sent a distress call at 1:20 p. m. Sunday (8:30 a. m. EST) there was no sign of it.

Six Americans were on the passenger list.

Vitor Veres, Portuguese director of civil aviation, said in a statement at 1 a. m.: "Although the most contradictory information is being spread . . . all that is known is that . . . it announced it was going to make an emergency landing."

Veres said the area where the twin-engined plane is believed to have gone down, 180 miles west of Cape St. Vincent, is being combed "with all intensity and minuteness possible during the night and the morning."

More Portuguese air force planes will be sent from Lajes Air Force base to bolster the hunt at daylight, he said.

Waves Six Feet High

The pilot of a KLM line plane that diverted its Brazil-Lisbon flight to help in the search said on arrival here that waves were at least six feet high in the area where the plane reported it was going down.

The KLM pilot, Lucas Albert de Ruyter, said he saw numerous ships searching through the area. His report of the heavy swell cast further doubt on an unconfirmed report that the downed plane had been sighted trying to make its way back on one engine toward the Portuguese coast.

The U. S. Embassy said the sighting report came from an American search plane sent out from Casablanca which also reported it was trying to guide the flying boat back to shore by radio contact.

No other plane or surface vessel that joined in the search had any similar contact. The flying boat's radio transmitter went out after sending a distress signal. Some flying men said it would be impossible for the flying boat to taxi back.

The British pilot of the plane, Capt. Jim Bradbert, was a record-breaking flier in the prewar era. He set a solo flight record of 5 days 4 hours 21 minutes from Australia to England in 1933, a record that still stands.

Sister Plane's Search Futile

A sister seaplane of the newly formed Portuguese airline Artop returned without news from a flight over the area where the flying boat was reported down.

"We did not see the plane or make any contact with her," Artop's director, Cmdr. Cencio Ferreira, said on his return.

He went as he reported on the search plane's vain quest. The weather was reported clear and the sea calm but with a heavy swell.

The six Americans aboard were listed as Lazarus Kohlmann and his wife Janice; Dorothy Slater and Louis Charles Slater; Henry Hurd Rennell; and Dr. George W. Long. No hometowns were listed.

Dr. Long was identified in Washington, D. C., as an assistant editor of the National Geographic Magazine, connected with the magazine for the past 13 years, he was on an assignment in the Madeiras. Dr. Long has a wife and three children.

Old Apartment House Turned Into Inferno

MONTREAL (AP)—Fire swept through a downtown apartment building early Sunday, leaving five known dead and at least 18 persons missing and feared dead.

Firemen Sunday night worked through the rubble looking for bodies. The searchers moved cautiously because of fear that the walls of the four-story building might collapse. It was expected the search would take two or three days.

Sgt. Jean Langevin said the five known dead are four men and a woman. He set the tentative missing figure at 18 but said the toll cannot be counted until all the occupants are accounted for.

The bachelor-type apartments housed about 100 persons, including many European immigrants and several night club dancers. It is in an area just nine blocks west of Dominion Square and Windsor railway station.

Walls To Be Pulled Down

A building wrecker is to pull down the remaining walls Monday to permit the search to go on without fear of a cave-in.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Witnesses told of hearing two explosions in the building, but Col. Maurice Forget, president of the Quebec Natural Gas Corp., quoted fire officials as telling him there were none.

The flames flashed through the old four-story building with such fury and speed that the block was turned into a hysterical stampede. Some persons jumped out of windows to safety.

Some of the five bodies pulled from the debris were burned beyond immediate identification.

Firemen formed human chains in searching for the missing. Fearful of weakened floors collapsing, they clung to one another in poking through what remained of the upper stories of the building.

At Least 10 Injured

At least 10 persons were injured, five seriously enough to be hospitalized.

The fire was checked before spreading to a Roman Catholic home for epileptic children in the rear. Nuns prayed and placed pictures of saints in windows facing the menacing flames.

Witnesses said the blaze broke out about 1:45 a. m. Most of the residents were sleeping at the time.

The wing of the block destroyed contained 47 small apartments and furnished rooms.

Dorothy C. Fisher, Noted Novelist, Dies

ARLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Dorothy Canfield Fisher, a quiet, motherly-looking woman who forged a remarkable career as novelist, scholar, translator and educator, died Sunday amid the Vermont hills she loved. She was 79.

She became famous for the novels she wrote before World War I and in the years shortly after "The Squirrel Cage," "The Bent Twig" and "The Deepening Stream" were outstanding among them. In recent years she became known for her articles and non-fiction, and as a judge on the Book of the Month Club selection board.

Commonwealth's Atty. Peter M. Axson said the tragedy followed by only a few hours a wienner roast and picnic at the scene by the Lewis clan.

Mrs. Lewis and the five children—Allison, 11; Earl Jr., 6; Martin, 4; Douglas, 17 months and Martha, 6 weeks—probably were unaware they were breathing the deadly gas when they went to sleep in the car late Friday night or early Saturday, the commonwealth's attorney said.

State Trooper Jack Murphy said the four-room dwelling at nearby East Bernstadt flared up and was gone in a few minutes.

He identified the dead as William Hubbard, 28; his wife, Jean, 26, their son, Edward, 3, and Hubbard's brothers, Cecil, 24, and Earl, 20.

Moon Rocket Spotlight Taken Over By Army

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Army was in the moon rocket business on its own Sunday as scientists pondered the fate of Pioneer II, the last of the Air Force lunar probes.

The Army, which now has two attempts to circle the moon with a satellite, took over the spotlight after the third Air Force moon missile burned up in a blazing re-entry through the earth's atmosphere less than 45 minutes after launching Saturday morning.

The third stage of the 88-foot Pioneer failed to ignite, causing the 32-ton rocket to sputter at an altitude of 1,000 miles—a far cry from the moon, 220,000 miles away.

Once again, the Army was on the spot. Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris' missilemen appeared to be in a position similar to last Jan. 31 when Explorer I, the first successful American satellite, blasted into orbit a month after a Navy Vanguard attempt failed.

Medaris, who heads the Army missile program, said operations for his service's lunar probe are on schedule. The shot may come on or about Dec. 5, when the planes of earth and moon again are in "opportunity position for the launching."

The Army plans to use its highly successful 1,500-mile Jupiter ballistic missile as the main booster for the moon rocket. The rest of the vehicle probably will be similar to the Jupiter-C that fired three Explorer satellites into orbit.

The Air Force was assigned three lunar probes and the Army two.

Pioneer I set a new mark in man's space quest Oct. 11 when it soared some 79,000 miles into outer space before being pulled back by the earth's gravity. The first Air Force lunar probe blew up 77 seconds after launching August 17.

CAP Pilot Killed

ORANGEBURG, S. C. (UPI) — A Civil Air Patrol plane crashed into a private residence here Sunday, killing the pilot and badly damaging the home.

Lt. Dudley W. McDaniel was killed when his light plane crashed into the home of A. M. Gray just outside the city limits near McDaniel's own home. McDaniel was the only occupant of the plane.

Gov. McKeldin Praises Md. Workshop For Blind

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin praised the Maryland Workshop for the Blind at a 50th anniversary ceremony of the institution Sunday.

He called it a "wonderful institution of learning, production and inspiration" for those handicapped by loss of sight.

"Fifty years ago, even as now, there were geniuses among the blind — great writers and musicians, practitioners in many professions and plyers of many trades," McKeldin noted.

"But then as now, among the blind as among those blessed with sight, there were many who, through no faults of their own, were unequipped for such specialized vocations."

"It was in their interest that the Maryland Workshop for the Blind was established."

The governor said in his prepared speech that many of those trained in the workshop had found jobs in other industries. He added that the blind have helped the country to its magnificent discovery.

Pope John Prays Before Peter's Tomb

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII descended Sunday into the grotto beneath St. Peter's basilica and prayed before the tomb of Peter, whom Roman Catholics regard as the first pope of the church.

The newly crowned 262nd sovereign pontiff stopped also to pray before the tomb of his predecessor, Pius XII, who died one month ago Sunday. Pius is buried in the grotto near Peter's tomb.

Sunday morning, the pope appeared in the window of his studio in the apostolic palace to raise his hand in benediction of more than 5,000 Romans and tourists gathered in St. Peter's Square.

U.S. Population Growing Faster Than Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's population is growing faster than predicted. Growth in recent years has exceeded even the most liberal government forecasts.

To get in line with the trend, the Census Bureau Sunday released new projections of population expansion covering the next 22 years.

These figures indicate a 1975 population of between 215,800,000 and 243,900,000, depending on future trends in fertility, mortality and immigration. The population now is about 175 million.

Two years ago the bureau forecast a 1975 population of between 206,900,000 and 228,500,000.

There is one point of similarity between the 1956 and 1958 projections. Both indicate the greatest growth in future years will be among young adults and old folks.

Rescued Arctic Team Members Flown To N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven members of a scientific team plucked in arctic darkness from a storm-split ice island near the North Pole flew here Sunday.

Mrs. Georg Cvikanovich of East Orange, N.J., the wife of the team's chief scientist, glimpsed her husband before he left the plane. She exclaimed: "Oh, my goodness, that beard. This is impossible. He has a mustache usually, but not a beard."

She said she would order him to shave off the beard, "but I don't think he will listen to me."

Also present when the Air Force Skymaster from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., landed at LaGuardia Field with the men was the wife of S. Sgt. Thomas A. Boger, an Air Force technician. The Bogers live in Haddonfield, N.J.

The wives stood at the foot of a landing ramp and embraced their husbands as they left the plane.

The men, still wearing arctic gear, quickly loosened their collars and removed some of their heavy clothing in the 55-degree temperature.

They will spend Sunday night in the city and disperse to their homes Monday after a news conference.

Accompanying the team were five crew members of the 8th Air Force C123 which rescued them from the floating ice.

The number of Americans in the main working age group will remain fairly stable.

Increasing numbers of young adults are expected to have a major effect on the economy since most families are formed by this age group.

The bureau emphasized that long-term projections of total population are subject to considerable error. At the same time, it said it can make highly accurate 20-year forecasts for some important population groups including the aged and those of college and working age.

All the projections are based on expectations of high employment and high economic activity. Statisticians assume there will be no major depression or disastrous war epidemic or other catastrophe.

U.S., Soviet Agree To Swap Exhibits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia have signed an agreement under which this country will stage an exhibition in Moscow next summer and the Soviets will hold one in New York City, it was announced Sunday.

The agreement was signed Thursday in the Soviet capital by Harold C. McClellan, general manager of the government-sponsored U.S. exhibition, and D. Borissenko of the U.S.S.R. Chamber of Commerce.

McClellan, who just returned from three weeks in Moscow, said the U.S. exhibit would be put on in Moscow's Sokolniki Park. The Soviets will stage their exhibition on two floors of New York City's Coliseum.

Both exhibitions will be devoted to displays of scientific, cultural and technological developments and are part of the East-West cultural exchange agreement.

Conservatives Demand Tough Cyprus Policy

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan Sunday faced rising demands from his own Conservative Party for much tougher methods to end bullet-in-the-back terrorist attacks in Cyprus.

Eight Conservative legislators drew up questions to be fired at the government in Parliament this week. They want an end to liberal policies associated with the island colony's present governor, Sir Hugh Foot.

Political informants said the Conservatives—all men with army backgrounds—will demand putting the island colony under a military strongman charged with stamping out killings and sabotage blamed primarily on the Greek Cypriot underground EOKA.

The man they have in mind is reported to be Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templer, who smashed Communist rebels in Malaya and the Mau Mau killers in Kenya. EOKA gunmen and bombers have killed nine British civilians and 14 servicemen since starting a new offensive five weeks ago. Most of the victims were shot in the back. The army has promised to arm British civilians there who want weapons.

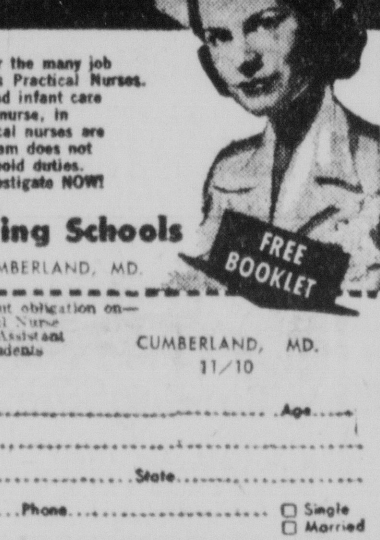

Feuding over the island's future started 10 years ago. Religious leaders of the Greek-speaking majority demanded that the island be merged with Greece.

At first there were mainly clashes between Greek-speaking Cypriots and the Turkish-speaking minority. The heat turned on the British in 1954, when they moved their Mideast headquarters to the island from the Suez Canal zone.

Injured Scout, 13, Rescued From Cave

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — "I've never had so much fun in all my life."

Thirteen-year-old Charles Harris of Richmond, his arm in a sling, was telling about Saturday's eight-hour ordeal, waiting to be brought from the depths of a remote cave in mountainous country 20 miles west of here.

Harris stumbled and broke his arm while descending into the cave with 11 Explorer Scouts, their leader and a guide during an expedition about 3 p.m. Saturday.

Earlier reports indicated the youngsters, all from Richmond, were trapped. Their leader, C. H. Hinnant, 20, said Sunday they had remained in the cave only because there was no immediate way to remove Harris.

Towson Professors Hit Medical Group Criticism Of Nude Silhouette Program

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—A group of professors at Towson State Teachers criticized the Baltimore County Medical Assn. Sunday for condemning a nude silhouette posture program at the college.

The medical group lacked "professional courtesy, objectivity and dignity," said members of the Towson State chapter, American Assn. of University Professors.

"Through design or lack of forethought," said the professors, "the weight of the medical profession has been put behind a misrepresentation which is doing another profession incalculable harm."

"We have called upon the senior authority of the Council of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland to exert its influence to see that this hasty and ill-conceived document is officially withdrawn."

When Towson officials recently disclosed that freshmen girls were posing in the nude for silhouette photographs used in the posture program the county medical group condemned it. Its resolution termed the program "medically valueless" and said it was "beneath the Christian dignity of the womanhood."

The medical association, at a closed meeting with state educators last week, issued a mild weather.

Mrs. Georg Cvikanovich of East Orange, N.J., the wife of the team's chief scientist, glimpsed her husband before he left the plane. She exclaimed: "Oh, my goodness, that beard. This is impossible. He has a mustache usually, but not a beard."

She said she would order him to shave off the beard, "but I don't think he will listen to me."

Also present when the Air Force skymaster from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., landed at LaGuardia Field with the men was the wife of S. Sgt. Thomas A. Boger, an Air Force technician. The Bogers live in Haddonfield, N.J.

The wives stood at the foot of a landing ramp and embraced their husbands as they left the plane.

The men, still wearing arctic gear, quickly loosened their collars and removed some of their heavy clothing in the 55-degree temperature.

They will spend Sunday night in the city and disperse to their homes Monday after a news conference.

Accompanying the team were five crew members of the 8th Air Force C123 which rescued them from the floating ice.

Conservatives Demand Tough Cyprus Policy

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan Sunday faced rising demands from his own Conservative Party for much tougher methods to end bullet-in-the-back terrorist attacks in Cyprus.

Eight Conservative legislators drew up questions to be fired at the government in Parliament this week. They want an end to liberal policies associated with the island colony's present governor, Sir Hugh Foot.

Political informants said the Conservatives—all men with army backgrounds—will demand putting the island colony under a military strongman charged with stamping out killings and sabotage blamed primarily on the Greek Cypriot underground EOKA.

The man they have in mind is reported to be Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templer, who smashed Communist rebels in Malaya and the Mau Mau killers in Kenya.

EOKA gunmen and bombers have killed nine British civilians and 14 servicemen since starting a new offensive five weeks ago. Most of the victims were shot in the back. The army has promised to arm British civilians there who want weapons.

Feuding over the island's future started 10 years ago. Religious leaders of the Greek-speaking majority demanded that the island be merged with Greece.

At first there were mainly clashes between Greek-speaking Cypriots and the Turkish-speaking minority. The heat turned on the British in 1954, when they moved their Mideast headquarters to the island from the Suez Canal zone.

U.S., Soviet Agree To Swap Exhibits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia have signed an agreement under which this country will stage an exhibition in Moscow next summer and the Soviets will hold one in New York City, it was announced Sunday.

The agreement was signed Thursday in the Soviet capital by Harold C. McClellan, general manager of the government-sponsored U.S. exhibition, and D. Borissenko of the U.S.S.R. Chamber of Commerce.

McClellan, who just returned from three weeks in Moscow, said the U.S. exhibit would be put on in Moscow's Sokolniki Park. The Soviets will stage their exhibition on two floors of New York City's Coliseum.

Both exhibitions will be devoted to displays of scientific, cultural and technological developments and are part of the East-West cultural exchange agreement.

Injured Scout, 13, Rescued From Cave

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — "I've never had so much fun in all my life."

Thirteen-year-old Charles Harris of Richmond, his arm in a sling, was telling about Saturday's eight-hour ordeal, waiting to be brought from the depths of a remote cave in mountainous country 20 miles west of here.

Harris stumbled and broke his arm while descending into the cave with 11 Explorer Scouts, their leader and a guide during an expedition about 3 p.m. Saturday.

Earlier reports indicated the youngsters, all from Richmond, were trapped. Their leader, C. H. Hinnant, 20, said Sunday they had remained in the cave only because there was no immediate way to remove Harris.

Towson Professors Hit Medical Group Criticism Of Nude Silhouette Program

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—A group of professors at Towson State Teachers criticized the Baltimore County Medical Assn. Sunday for condemning a nude silhouette posture program at the college.

The medical group lacked "professional courtesy, objectivity and dignity," said members of the Towson State chapter, American Assn. of University Professors.

"Through design or lack of forethought," said the professors, "the weight of the medical profession has been put behind a misrepresentation which is doing another profession incalculable harm."

"We have called upon the senior authority of the Council of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland to exert its influence to see that this hasty and ill-conceived document is officially withdrawn."

When Towson officials recently disclosed that freshmen girls were posing in the nude for silhouette photographs used in the posture program the county medical group condemned it. Its resolution termed the program "medically valueless" and said it was "be-neath the Christian dignity of womanhood."

The medical association, at a closed meeting with state educators last week, issued a mild weather.

apology for its action. But it did not say if the resolution was repudiated or still in force.

Said the professors' group: "There was no serious attempt on the part of the medical association to ascertain the nature of the photographs, the procedures involved and the steps taken to protect the dignity (Christian or otherwise) of the students involved."

State Police, FBI Probe $164,000 Theft

WINGATE, Md. (AP)—Authorities were seeking the answer Sunday to the $164,000 question—who broke into a general store and made off with that astronomical amount of loot early Saturday?

George A. Powley, owner of the store as well as a seafood packing plant at this little Dorchester County town, told police there was $159,000 in cash and $5,000 in bonds in his safe.

Powley found the front door of the store and the door of the safe battered in by the burglars when he went to open the place Saturday morning.

Perjury Retrial For Forrester Held Unlikely

BALTIMORE (AP)—It is unlikely Clarence O. Forrester, former head of the police racket division, will be retried on a charge of inducing two sergeants to give false testimony, the state's attorney said Sunday.

"It is extremely dubious Forrester will be retried on this perjury indictment," said State's Atty. J. Harold Grady after nine of the 10 Supreme Bench judges granted him a new trial Saturday.

The judges held there was no substantial evidence to support the finding that Forrester was guilty of subornation of perjury. Grady said he knew of no new evidence that could be presented.

Grady noted that there are two other indictments outstanding against Forrester, malfeasance in office and maintaining a disorderly house. He added that "consideration will now be given" to those charges.

The Supreme Bench also denied a similar motion for a new trial for Forrester's sidekick, ex-police Capt. Hyman Goldstein.

Forrester and Goldstein were co-defendants at the May trial on charges of subornation of perjury.

All 10 judges agreed in refusing Goldstein's appeal after listening to more than three hours of arguments by defense attorneys for the two former police officials.

At their trial last spring, the two sergeants who allegedly were induced to lie, told the jury they had testified incorrectly that a defendant was arrested in a house where a raid occurred. Actually, they said, the man was nabbed in a car outside.

In asking new trials, lawyers for Forrester and Goldstein contended the evidence was not legally sufficient to justify a conviction and that the judge erred in allowing certain documents and statements to be admitted into evidence.

Judge Rueben Oppenheimer who presided at the May trial, did not take part in Saturday's appeal.

Voters Approve Baltimore City Pay Boost Plan

BALTIMORE (AP)—Despite an unfavorable vote from most counties, the proposal to permit Baltimore City to increase salaries of certain officials has won approval.

The ballot which put the proposed constitutional amendment over the top came from adjacent Baltimore County. Announced late Saturday, that total but unofficial figure was 32,872 in favor and 27,736 against the amendment.

With returns from all but 137 of the state's 1,340 polling places, the count was 120,330 for and 115,331 against the measure.

One of three proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot last Tuesday, the salary measure was rejected in all but seven counties and Baltimore City.

Polling places still not heard from include 58 in Baltimore City, 68 in Frederick County, 6 in Howard, 3 in Harford and 2 in Calvert.

The remaining Baltimore count is expected to follow the lead of the other polling places heard from, and the rest of the county vote would not be sufficient under the circumstances to tip the scales against the amendment.

Annapolis Decency Committee Planned

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A "Committee for Decency" made up of local citizens will be named by the mayor to weed out obscene magazines from newsstands here.

Mayor Arthur G. Ellington has agreed to appoint such a committee, to be comprised of persons from civic clubs, Parent-Teacher Associations and other groups.

Spearhead of the action was the Severn Town Club, an affiliation of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. They declared there has been a "prevalence of obscene magazines" on local newsstands and that boys and girls are getting hold of them.

The committee will be similar to the Mayor's Committee for Decency in Baltimore. The Baltimore committee is scheduled to appear before the Legislative Council Wednesday to urge tightening of state laws relating to sales of obscene magazines.

Fire Control Board To Go Into Operation

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—The first consolidated fire control board in Prince Georges County will go into operation this week.

The control board, reported to be the largest in the Washington metropolitan area, will dispatch 38 companies and the Laurel Rescue Squad from a second floor suite in the Hyattsville County Building.

The board will be operated by the county's Volunteer Firemen's Assn. It will have new equipment and fixtures costing about $15,000.

Patrolman Cleared In Lawyer's Arrest

BALTIMORE (AP)—Patrolman Wilbert J. Elsroad has been cleared by his top boss of any wrongdoing in arresting an attorney who was trying to converse with his client.

Police Commissioner James Hepbrom said Saturday he held Elsroad blameless in the incident last Oct. 2.

Elsroad arrested attorney R. Lewis Bainter in the corridor of the court house. The lawyer maintained he was within his rights in talking to a client who was in the officer's custody. Charges of misconduct against Bainter were dropped at a police court hearing.

The Baltimore Bar Assn. sharply criticized the officer's action and Hepbrom called a hearing at which 37 witnesses were heard.

CDA, Red Cross Agree On Procedures

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Civil Defense Agency and the American Red Cross have agreed on certain cooperative steps to follow in case of disaster operations.

The agreement announced Saturday defines the area and responsibility of duties, and recognizes that government agencies are primarily responsible for administering aid.

The Red Cross will maintain administrative and financial control in carrying out its natural disaster relief program, such as in time of floods or tornadoes. It recognizes that in an enemy-caused disaster the protection and care of families and individuals is a basic responsibility of government.

The Red Cross agreed to assist to the extent of its ability in development and operation of a program of civil defense, on all government levels.

Sherley Ewing, director of the Civil Defense Agency, and Joseph L. Carter, manager of the Eastern Area of Red Cross, announced the agreement. It will serve as a guide for county and local CD agencies and local chapters of the Red Cross.

The day that had been planned for 43 years

No need to gulp down good coffee this morning. Or to eat a warmed-over dinner late tonight. No worries about work. Perhaps no worries at all.

Perhaps? Yes, retirement—real retirement—doesn't just happen. It has to be planned. Mentally. Physically. Financially. And it's an encouraging sign that more and more Americans are beginning to prepare for this day years before it arrives.

Pension plans and Social Security are helping to solve the money needs of retirement. So is life insurance. In thousands of instances the additional income at retirement from life insurance policies has meant the difference between semi-dependence on one's children and an independent old age.

Isn't it reassuring to know that the life insurance you own for your family's protection today may help support you in later years?

State Police, FBI Probe $164,000 Theft

WINGATE, Md. (AP)—Authorities were seeking the answer Sunday to the $164,000 question—who broke into a general store and made off with that astronomical amount of loot early Saturday?

George A. Powley, owner of the store as well as a seafood packing plant at this little Dorchester County town, told police there was $159,000 in cash and $5,000 in bonds in his safe.

Powley found the front door of the store and the door of the safe battered in by the burglars when he went to open the place Saturday morning.

The store is located in the heart of Wingate and Powley lives in an adjacent building. But neither he nor apparently any neighbors heard the racket the yeggs made in smashing into the store and safe.

Powley, 51, said he had accumulated the money over the years. State Police Cpl. Walter H. Dobson headed a team of five state troopers and two FBI agents probing the theft. FBI men entered the case on the theory that the safe-crackers may have crossed state lines.

As he first told authorities of the loss, Powley described it as a "considerable amount—all I had."

Later in the day he said it totaled up to $164,000, most of which was in $100 bills. Several insurance policies were taken but were valueless to the thieves.

Dobson urged that business establishments in Maryland and nearby states be on the watch for spenders with big bills.

Dobson urged that business establishments in Maryland and nearby states be on the watch for spenders with big bills.

State Police Cpl. Walter H. Dobson headed a team of five state troopers and two FBI agents probing the theft. FBI men entered the case on the theory that the safe-crackers may have crossed state lines.

As he first told authorities of the loss, Powley described it as a "considerable amount—all I had."

Perjury Retrial For Forrester Held Unlikely

BALTIMORE (AP)—It is unlikely Clarence O. Forrester, former head of the police racket division, will be retried on a charge of inducing two sergeants to give false testimony, the state's attorney said Sunday.

"It is extremely dubious Forrester will be retried on this perjury indictment," said State's Atty. J. Harold Grady after nine of the 10 Supreme Bench judges granted him a new trial Saturday.

The judges held there was no substantial evidence to support the finding that Forrester was guilty of subornation of perjury. Grady said he knew of no new evidence that could be presented.

Grady noted that there are two other indictments outstanding against Forrester, malfeasance in office and maintaining a disorderly house. He added that "consideration will now be given" to those charges.

The Supreme Bench also denied a similar motion for a new trial for Forrester's sidekick, ex-police Capt. Hyman Goldstein.

Forrester and Goldstein were co-defendants at the May trial on charges of subornation of perjury.

All 10 judges agreed in refusing Goldstein's appeal after listening to more than three hours of arguments by defense attorneys for the two former police officials.

At their trial last spring, the two sergeants who allegedly were induced to lie, told the jury they had testified incorrectly that a defendant was arrested in a house where a raid occurred. Actually, they said, the man was nabbed in a car outside.

In asking new trials, lawyers for Forrester and Goldstein contended the evidence was not legally sufficient to justify a conviction and that the judge erred in allowing certain documents and statements to be admitted into evidence.

Judge Rueben Oppenheimer who presided at the May trial, did not take part in Saturday's appeal.

Voters Approve Baltimore City Pay Boost Plan

BALTIMORE (AP)—Despite an unfavorable vote from most counties, the proposal to permit Baltimore City to increase salaries of certain officials has won approval. The ballot which put the proposed constitutional amendment over the top came from adjacent Baltimore County. Announced late Saturday, that total but unofficial figure was 32,872 in favor and 27,736 against the amendment.

With returns in from all but 137 of the state's 1,340 polling places, the count was 120,330 for and 115,331 against the measure.

One of three proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot last Tuesday, the salary measure was rejected in all but seven counties and Baltimore City.

Polling places still not heard from include 58 in Baltimore City, 68 in Frederick County, 6 in Howard, 3 in Harford and 2 in Calvert.

The remaining Baltimore count is expected to follow the lead of the other polling places heard from, and the rest of the county vote would not be sufficient under the circumstances to tip the scales against the amendment.

Patrolman Cleared In Lawyer's Arrest

BALTIMORE (AP)—Patrolman Wilbert J. Elsbard has been cleared by his top boss of any wrongdoing in arresting an attorney who was trying to converse with his client.

Police Commissioner James Hepbrom said Saturday he held Elsbard blameless in the incident last Oct. 2.

Elsbard arrested attorney R. Lewis Baider in the corridor of the court house. The lawyer maintained he was within his rights in talking to a client who was in the officer's custody. Charges of misconduct against Baider were dropped at a police court hearing. The Baltimore Bar Assn. sharply criticized the officer's action and Hepbrom called a hearing at which 37 witnesses were heard.

CDA, Red Cross Agree On Procedures

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Civil Defense Agency and the American Red Cross have agreed on certain cooperative steps to follow in case of disaster operations.

The agreement announced Saturday defines the area and responsibility of duties, and recognizes that government agencies are primarily responsible for administering aid.

SEEKS CHANGE OF AIR BONN, Germany (UPI)—Pyotr D. Orlov, Russia's second ranking diplomat in West Germany, said Sunday he has asked Moscow for a transfer because he cannot stand the local climate. Orlov, minister charge d'affaires at the Soviet Embassy, told newsmen it was "too sultry, wet and hothouse-like" for him to stay in Bonn much longer.

The Red Cross will maintain administrative and financial control in carrying out its natural disaster relief program, such as in time of floods or tornadoes. It recognizes that in an enemy-caused disaster the protection and care of families and individuals is a basic responsibility of government. The Red Cross agreed to assist to the extent of its ability in development and operation of a program of civil defense, on all government levels.

Sherley Ewing, director of the Civil Defense Agency, and Joseph L. Carter, manager of the Eastern Area of Red Cross, announced the agreement. It will serve as a guide for county and local CD agencies and local chapters of the Red Cross.

Annapolis Decency Committee Planned

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A "Committee for Decency" made up of local citizens will be named by the mayor to weed out obscene magazines from newsstands here.

Mayor Arthur G. Ellington has agreed to appoint such a committee, to be comprised of persons from civic clubs, Parent-Teacher Associations and other groups.

Spearhead of the action was the Severn Town Club, an affiliation of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. They declared there has been a "prevalence of obscene magazines" on local newsstands and that boys and girls are getting hold of them.

The committee will be similar to the Mayor's Committee for Decency in Baltimore. The Baltimore committee is scheduled to appear before the Legislative Council Wednesday to urge tightening of state laws relating to sales of obscene magazines.

The day that had been planned for 43 years

No need to gulp down good coffee this morning. Or to eat a warmed-over dinner late tonight. No worries about work. Perhaps no worries at all.

Perhaps? Yes, retirement—real retirement—doesn't just happen. It has to be planned. Mentally. Physically. Financially. And it's an encouraging sign that more and more Americans are beginning to prepare for this day years before it arrives.

Paw Paw Church Is Reopened

Remodeling Project
Cost Over $12,000

PAW PAW, W. Va.—The Paw Paw Methodist Church had a reopening day service yesterday, following completion of an extensive $12,000 remodeling program. About 150 persons participated.

The pastor, Rev. Richard L. Hamilton, delivered the morning sermon, and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Maxine Gordon with Mrs. A. D. Slough as organist sang the special anthem of the morning. The finance committee of which Mrs. J. I. Armstrong is chairman set a goal of $1000 for this reopening day and this goal was exceeded. The Nursery of the church was open for the first time during this worship service so that younger parents could attend. Following the worship service, the Sunday School School convened at 11 a.m. under the direction of Raymond Bucklew and Herman Goode, co-superintendents. The Children's division met for their devotionals in the social room while the Youth and Adult divisions met in the sanctuary.

During the spring months of 1958, the Sunday School and Church at Paw Paw grew to such an extent that members realized something had to be done. More people were attending than there were seats so the Official Board under the direction of its president, C. L. Gordon, appointed a committee to study the problem. This committee returned with the idea of a very limited building program amounting to $2500. These first plans consisted of changing the entrance to the church so that a balcony could be added to the sanctuary for three Sunday School classes.

Later this amount turned to $3500 for a second floor over the kitchen for a nursery. When this plan seemed unadvisable, upon the recommendation of Dr. Paul Warner, Hagerstown district superintendent, the church considered the construction of a new addition. This would entail another $5000 but the congregation decided that this had to be done so work commenced on the addition that would house a nursery, a kindergarten, five other Sunday School classes and an addition to the present church social hall. As this latest move got under way and the necessity of borrowing additional funds arose, the people of the church decided that this was the time to do a complete remodeling program. So, like Topsy, the program grew and grew until new pews were added, new carpet, all floors refinished, and a church office, vestibule and rest rooms were added. Finally the improvements amounted to more than $12,000.

During the remodeling of the sanctuary several old newspapers dated November 17, 1927 were found. One of the papers was the Martinsburg Evening Journal, the other the Cumberland Allegan. In these two papers were included complete accounts of the 1927 program along with the programs for the reopening day service. The flowery language of the papers outdo anything printed today and descriptions of the events of the day proved interesting and amusing reading for the workmen and members of the church. However, the papers of 1927 provided history that had been lost and these papers are in a place of safe keeping with the accounts of the present remodeling program.

The Paw Paw Methodist Church, the oldest church in the Paw Paw area was established as a congregation in 1868 and the first church was built in 1873. The present sanctuary is part of that original structure. The parsonage was built in 1876. Major improvements seem to have taken place in 1898, 1927, and now again in 1958, just 60 years from the first move at improvement.

On the second Sunday of November, 31 years ago, the Paw Paw Methodist Church had a reopening day. At the cost of $6200 the congregation at that time opened a building that housed the Sunday School, the church social room and the church kitchen. One of the amazing things about that reopening day was that the entire debt was obliterated on Reopening Day. All of this occurred under the leadership of Rev. Stanley J. McFarlane.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hyndman-Londonderry Parent Teachers Association, will be held tomorrow at 7:45 p.m. in the new Primary Building. A tour of the new building will be made. Devotions will be in charge of Rev. C. H. Ream of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Hyndman, Pa. The program for the evening will be in charge of Boy and Girl Scout troops, including Cub Scouts and Brownie Scouts.

Paw Paw Church Is Reopened

Remodeling Project
Cost Over $12,000

PAW PAW, W. Va.—The Paw Paw Methodist Church had a reopening day service yesterday, following completion of an extensive $12,000 remodeling program. About 150 persons participated.

The pastor, Rev. Richard L. Hamilton, delivered the morning sermon, and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Maxine Gordon with Mrs. A. D. Slough as organist sang the special anthem of the morning. The finance committee of which Mrs. J. I. Armstrong is chairman set a goal of $1000 for this reopening day and this goal was exceeded. The Nursery of the church was open for the first time during this worship service so that younger parents could attend. Following the worship service, the Sunday Church School convened at 11 a.m. under the direction of Raymond Bucklew and Herman Goede, co-supervisors. The Children's division met for their devotionals in the social room while the Youth and Adult divisions met in the sanctuary.

During the spring months of 1958, the Sunday School and Church at Paw Paw grew to such an extent that members realized something had to be done. More people were attending than there were seats so the Official Board under the direction of its president, C. L. Gordon, appointed a committee to study the problem. This committee returned with the idea of a very limited building program amounting to $2500. These first plans consisted of changing the entrance to the church so that a balcony could be added to the sanctuary for three Sunday School classes.

Later this amount turned to $3500 for a second floor over the kitchen for a nursery. When this plan seemed unworkable, upon the recommendation of Dr. Paul Warner, Hagerstown district superintendent, the church considered the construction of a new addition. This would entail another $5000 but the congregation decided that this had to be done so work commenced on the addition that would house a nursery, a kindergarten, five other Sunday School classes and an addition to the present church social hall. As this latest move got under way and the necessity of borrowing additional funds arose, the people of the church decided that this was the time to do a complete remodeling program. So, like Topsy, the program grew and grew until new pews were added, new carpet, all floors refinished, and a church office, vestibule and rest rooms were added. Finally the improvements amounted to more than $12,000.

During the remodeling of the sanctuary several old newspapers dated November 17, 1927 were found. One of the papers was the Martinsburg Evening Journal, the other the Cumberland Allegan. In these two papers were included complete accounts of the 1927 program along with the programs for the reopening day service. The flowery language of the papers outdo anything printed today and descriptions of the events of the day proved interesting and amusing reading for the workmen and members of the church. However, the papers of 1927 provided history that had been lost and these papers are in a place of safe keeping with the accounts of the present remodeling program.

The Paw Paw Methodist Church, the oldest church in the Paw Paw area was established as a congregation in 1868 and the first church was built in 1873. The present sanctuary is part of that original structure. The parsonage was built in 1876. Major improvements seem to have taken place in 1898, 1927, and now again in 1958, just 60 years from the first move to improvement. On the second Sunday of November, 31 years ago, the Paw Paw Methodist Church had a reopening day. At the cost of $6200 the congregation at that time opened a building that housed the Sunday School, the church social room and the church kitchen. One of the amazing things about that reopening day was that the entire debt was obliterated on Reopening Day. All of this occurred under the leadership of Rev. Stanley J. McFarland.

He was a member of the Alvin C. Neat Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and was employed at the Amelle Plant of Celanese Corporation of America. The body is at the Eichhorn Funeral Home where friends will be received from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home today at 2 p.m., by Rev. Carl Price. Interment will be in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Moscow.

Citizens Group Deserves Praise

The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report has disbanded. It would be a great lack of gratitude for this voluntary bipartisan organization to be permitted to bow off without a public "Well done" for its important role in the adoption of so many of the second Hoover Commission's recommendations.

Time and again it was the Citizens Committee that marshaled support behind the commission's program. Now convinced that with the end of 1958 — its "climax year" — the committee has passed its peak of effectiveness, it has decided to leave further efforts to other interested organizations. It says naively it is sure they will follow through with the proposals yet to be adopted.

The committee must be credited with considerable influence in persuading Congress and the executive branch of the government to accept 64 per cent of the 314 recommendations made by the second Hoover Commission. Those proposals, according to Mr. Hoover, provide the potential for an annual saving of $3 billion.

The saving resulting from the work of the original Hoover Commission has been estimated at $7 billion by the former President, so the magnitude of the achievement is apparent.

These Days

The Democratic Victory

Men are elected to public office in the United States in this century for three reasons: one, they are handsome; two, they are orators, three, they stand for something. Sometimes there is a combination of these qualities as in Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts or in Vice President Nixon. In the recent campaign, very few of the candidates stood for any high philosophy of life. Most of them smooched along, either on their good looks or their oratory.

But there is a reverse side to that coin, namely, that a political party, compositely and cumulatively, is expected to represent purpose and principle, readily defined and understood. The Eisenhower Administration has not been able to formulate such a position during its six years of existence, except in the realm of foreign affairs where it has recently won some very significant victories.

In domestic affairs, it has not arrested the inflation; it has not reduced taxes; it has not prevented the cost of living from soaring; it has not protected American industry from foreign invasion which is a menace to American employment. It has not understood the temper of the people which is important in a republic.

There is no evidence that the Democrats will do any better. Traditionally the Democratic Party has been for cheap money, which is inflation. Our present tax structure was erected by Democrats and the Democrats have been historically low tariff, some even favoring free trade.

However, it is customary in this country for the people to turn on a party in power when there is dissatisfaction in the land. President Eisenhower's personal popularity is on the wane; he could not pull any part of his party along on his reputation, as he did in 1952 and 1956.

The victory of Nelson Rockefeller in New York State is due to many private, personal and local reasons and in no way reflects any exception to the national reaction. After all, Nelson Rockefeller has not taken a position on any issue that might be called a national Republican position. He ran personally, as though he belonged to no party and had no national associations and his election is a personal, not a party victory.

However, it does raise the issue as to his availability for the Presidency in 1960. Is his personableness greater than that of John Kennedy or Stuart Symington? Could he in 1960 turn the trend against a Republican Party which grows increasingly identical with the Democratic Party? Two years will tell much. At any rate, Nelson Rockefeller now has a forum from which to make himself a national figure. But so have Richard Nixon, John Kennedy and Stuart Symington. And so, for that matter, has Lyndon Johnson, who will now be the dominant figure in the Congress of the United States. Each generation produces its own type of leadership and these men fit this generation. Senator Barry Goldwater, who will not run for President, will undoubtedly now become one of the dominant Republican personalities in the Senate.

During the next two years, President Eisenhower will have a difficult time. He will, in effect, be a lame duck President. He cannot run for a third term because the Constitution now forbids it. He will be dependent almost entirely upon Democrats to get through any kind of legislation. A snarl will inevitably develop within the Republican Party between those who will want Richard Nixon to run for President and those who will manipulate the machine that Rockefeller will undoubtedly build to advance his cause for that office.

It was precisely such a conflict that defeated Wendell Willkie and Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey has, however, so risen in stature since he has been out of office, that Republicans who cannot accept any form of the New Deal may turn to him in 1960 to save their party. A party cannot exist without leadership. Of those who favored Robert A. Taft, few remain. The Eisenhower element is now limited to New York State. Republicans may find in Dewey a prospect of acceptable leadership.

This is, indeed, a queer picture, but the 1958 election was a prelude to 1960 and must be regarded as such, and needs to be studied carefully for an analysis of the trend of public opinion in one of the few really free countries left on the face of the earth.

Election Results Determined On Local Issues

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt used to say that Congressional elections — when presidential candidates are not running — are essentially "local." He meant that differing personalities and local issues determine the outcome.

This same theory could to some extent explain why Senator Barry Goldwater, conservative, won in Arizona, while Governor Knight — the "liberal" — was defeated, along with the conservative, Bill Knowland. Each of these two Republican candidates in California got approximately the same number of votes. It might explain, also, why Representative Keating, Republican, of New York, staunch supporter of President Eisenhower's policies, won a seat in the United States Senate on the same day that Nelson Rockefeller won the governorship by what was generally interpreted during the campaign as a deliberate maneuver of disassociation from the national administration in Washington.

But the significant news of the election is what happened as between two factions of the Republican Party and what this may mean for 1960.

Already the claim is being widely made that "Modern Republicanism" won and conservatism lost. It doesn't explain the defeat this week of ever so many "Modern Republican" nominees for Congress.

President Eisenhower says the "spenders" in the Democratic Party won. "Modern Republicanism" may be understood by some observers to mean only a middle-of-the-road philosophy, but to many conservatives it means "new dealism," excessive spending, and federal control of almost everything that has been local before, and a surrender to the labor union bosses on the "right to work" issue as voiced during the last campaign by Secretary of Labor Mitchell of the Eisenhower cabinet.

This is too early to make a prediction for 1960, but, as sure as day follows night, if the Republican Party advertises its nominee as a "Modern Republican" next time, it will increase the stay - at - home Republican vote, and surely elect the Democratic presidential nominee.

This correspondent has received many thousands of letters during the last two years from conservative Republicans. The refrain of the dissenters is the same: "I'm fed up with 'modern' stuff, which to me means radicalism and bankruptcy. If I want a radical, I'll vote Democratic, or else I'll stay home on election day."

The idea that the Republican Party can win an election by alienating the biggest single bloc of votes within its ranks is fallacious. On the editorial page of the "Wall Street Journal" appeared the two following comments on this week's election:

"If the Democrats have a mandate it is indeed an elusive one. Instead, the inescapable conclusion is that the Democrats didn't win the election. The Republicans committed suicide . . .

"We don't know whether the Republican Party can recapture its sense of purpose. But we are pretty sure that if it doesn't, then the Republican nomination in 1960 will be completely worthless for Mr. Nixon, Mr. Rockefeller, or anyone else."

This is but another way of saying that harmony and teamwork are essential to the success of a major party which has been defeated at the polls, and that there must be an agreement to support the fundamental principles that have built up the Republican Party as a defender of the workingman's dollar and his freedoms. "Me-tooism" — that is, attempting to imitate the other party—doesn't win enough independent or "switch" votes to offset the losses within one's own ranks.

You're Telling Me!

Dr. Chandler Washburne of the University of Florida has come up with the reason people don't remember what they said at cocktail parties. They don't want to.

Dr. Washburne says it's not forgetfulness, but pure amnesia. Pure amnesia, bless it.

Dr. Washburne differentiates between amnesia and simple forgetfulness. Which is more like forgetful simplicity.

Ordinarily when you do something you're sorry for, you try to forget later. At cocktail parties you forget first.

Dr. Washburne says pure amnesia is common among people who have had no drinks at all. Diplomatic news indicates it's also common among vodka drinkers.

Dr. Washburne says the reason people do things while intoxicated that they wouldn't do sober is that alcohol dissolves the mind's suppressions. That means you get lower as you get higher.

Or, algebraically, the increase in inhibitions is in direct proportion to the decrease in inhibitions.

Troublesome Gall Bladder Better Out Than In

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Infections of the gall bladder may occur in the absence of gallstones. But gallstones seldom form unless infection is present. These concretions develop from chemicals that crystallize in the presence of inflammation, especially when bile is overly concentrated. Once started, nothing can be done to prevent stones from growing.

They may not cause symptoms and it is surprising how many persons live to a ripe old age and die without knowing they harbored a gall bladder full of rocks. On the other hand, gallstones can be real trouble makers, particularly when small enough to escape into the tube leading into the intestine. Their migration leads to such severe colicky pain a narcotic is required for relief. Jaundice ensues when the stone gets stuck and blocks the duct.

Usually gallstones induce chronic discomfort. Some cause indigestion in the form of a sensation of fullness after eating, belching, or gaseous distention. Others complain of pain or tenderness in the upper right abdomen or in the back just below the right shoulder blade.

Distress may continue for years and is worse at times than at others. Pregnancy often aggravates discomfort, whereas rest and dietary discretion are helpful. Symptoms are most likely to arise after eating pork, cabbage, and fried or greasy foods.

A bothersome gall bladder is better out than in. It will not be missed, because the common duct between the liver and intestine takes over the organ's job of storing bile.

Surgery is more likely to be successful when typical symptoms exist and there is evidence of gall bladder disease. Keep in mind that the operation cannot be expected to relieve symptoms that stem from nervous or other intestinal disorders, even though gallstones co-exist.

Four New Catholic Senators Win Amid Signs People Have Changed

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It's time the American people got over the idea that a Catholic should not be elected President of the United States, and last week's election indicates that they are doing so.

Four Catholics were elected to the Senate, not because of their religion but because they were good men, while two states — Pennsylvania and Colorado — elected Catholic governors for the first time in history. Two other important states also elected Catholic governors — Pat Brown in California and Mike Di Salle in Ohio, both outstanding men.

In Ohio, once a stronghold of the Ku Klux Klan, no Catholic, a few years ago, had a chance. But after Frank Lausche, a Catholic, proved such a popular governor that he was re-elected four times Ohioans got over their fear that the Pope would move into the State House at Columbus.

In Connecticut last week the people of that largely Catholic state turned round and re-elected a Jewish governor, Abe Ribicoff, by the largest plurality in the state's history. Indirectly, this was an answer to the hate-mongers who bombed the synagogue in Atlanta.

The four new Catholic Senators are Phil Hart of Michigan, Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, and Ed Muskie of Maine, all Democrats, all fine men. The victory of Congressman McCarthy in Protestant Minnesota is especially ially significant. For McCarthy, from the city of St. Paul, defeated an able Republican, Sen. Ed Thyne, a former governor. Religion was raised by some voters privately, but when the votes were counted, the majority had put religion on the sidelines.

Simultaneously, three Catholic candidates, Democrats, were defeated. Maryland, first settled by Catholics fleeing from England, defeated Mayor D'Alesandro of Baltimore, running for the Senate. Religion, however, was not an issue. Maryland had previously elected a Catholic governor, Herbert O'Connor, later made him Senator.

Religion Can Boomerang

Democrat Frank Hogan, Manhattan District Attorney, was defeated in New York, and in this case religion was an issue — in reverse. Some Protestant and Jewish voters got sore at the insistence of Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany, that a Catholic must run for the Senate. De Sapio, barred Tom Finletter, a Protestant, and non-Catholic voters resented it. Congressman Kenneth Keating, a Republican and a Mason, defeated Hogan in this undisputed bid for "the Catholic vote."

This highlights the fact that the choice of candidates by religion can boomerang. When voters feel that a man is picked because of his religion rather than his ability, they can react vigorously. There was some early resentment in Connecticut against Governor Ribicoff, a Jew, hand-picking Tom Dodd, a Catholic, to run for the Senate, but this evaporated before election.

Last week's demonstration of nonsectarian balloting should help the presidential aspirations of Massachusetts' Sen. Jack Kennedy. Here again, if voters are judging a candidate not on his religion but on qualifications, Kennedy's youth may be against him. As a Senator, he did not at first live up to his publicity agent. He straddled issues and voted wrong. Latterly he has become farsighted, courageous, has grown in stature. But he is still young.

His greatest handicap may be his father, one of the wealthiest men in the USA, who increased his fortune by securing the agency of one of the top Scotch whisky brands right after prohibition. The New York election showed that wealth does not need to be a political handicap. But Rockefeller's father is a militant Jew, Kennedy's father a militant wet, who not only contributed heavily to the late Sen. Joe McCarthy, but arranged meetings at his Cape Cod home between McCarthy and Cardinal Spellman. This was probably why young Kennedy never stood up to be counted against Senator McCarthy — a fact which Mrs. Roosevelt hasn't let the public forget.

Kennedy, however, has become an A-1 Senator, and if the Democrats nominate a Catholic for president, the American people have come a long way from the Herbert Hoover-Al Smith campaign of 1928. The outcome may be far different.

Election Highlights And Sidelights

Election Moral 1: It doesn't pay to buck your husband. Minnesota's Mrs. Coya Knutson, who refused to retire from Congress at the request of her husband, was badly defeated . . . Election Moral 2: No Congressman in the south will run on a "moderation" segregation ticket for years to come. They saw what happened to Congressman Brooks Hays, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, when he advocated moderation in segregation, not rootin' tootin' segregation. He lost to an ear-eye-and-nose doctor in a write-in vote . . . McCarthyism is dead in Wisconsin. The tremendous avalanche of Democratic votes proved this. Only Fred Zimmerman, Republican Secretary of State, was re-elected. Zimmerman, onetime member of the Ku Klux Klan, had repented, divorced himself completely from Kluxism and McCarthyism . . . McCarthyism is also dead in Colorado, where Democrat Byron Johnson, former economics professor who candidly admitted he was a pacifist, defeated Republican state Representative John Mackie . . . Nebraska, which has the highest percentage of Republican newspapers of all the 48 states, knocked its only two Republican Congressmen out of office and seems to have elected a Democratic governor. The Omaha World-Herald, which covers Nebraska with Republican doctrine as the Democratic Atlanta Journal "covers Dixie like dew," apparently couldn't influence Nebraska voters . . . One reason for the defeat of Gov. Robert Holmes, Oregon Democrat, was the backstage bickering of the two Democratic Senators from Oregon — Neuberger and Morse . . . The two politicians who went widest of the mark in their predictions were Vice President Nixon and ex-President Truman. Nixon kept repeating that the Republicans were in for a big and pleasant surprise. They were surprised, but not pleasantly. Harry Truman kept warning the Democrats to be careful about repetition of 1948. Don't trust the polls, he said . . . Incidentally, the polls this time were accurate.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

There is poetry in flight. There is rhythm and meter and I am not good enough, as a writer, to explain it. I can feel it. There is a rusty seagull who comes to rest on a pole over my dock in the winter. He has a lonely cry and food is so scarce that, at low tide, he sometimes digs for clams in the river and drops them on the macadam road and eats from the broken shell.

I watch him come up river on the cold wind, the dirty white wings wide against the military gray sky, and he makes his big turn against the wind and comes toward the six-inch pole with his head cocked, measuring it with his good eye. The wings make one or two extra flaps, then his landing gear comes down, orange from knee to toes, and the wings curve steeply, as he arches his neck, and the feet stop on top of the pole.

He plucks his breast and looks worriedly up and down. If there are no fish, he cries against the cold of winter and scans the river for an old head of lettuce, a floating teabag, the shell of a grapefruit. He needs twice his weight in food every day. Sometimes he makes long low passes at a log swinging on the tide.

I watch planes too. I've been flying since February 1930 and I cannot resist the sound of engines. The silvery DC-7s and the Jetstream Conquies come in low over Sea Bright and they make their final turns seaward and down into Idlewild Airport. At night, over the dark Atlantic, they are nervous fireflies, blinking red and green in an inkwell of space, as they thunder louder and louder, and then move on to a growl, then a whisper and disappear with a small flirtatious wink in the east.

Over the Gulf of Mexico, Elinor and I have looked backward from a DC-6 and we have been Popocatapetl with ermine on its shoulders 175 miles away. I have seen the skyscrapers of Houston from a jet bomber 40,000 feet in the sky at high noon. The walls of Jerusalem swept under the wing of a tired old DC-3 and I could not believe that the two were separated by 2,000 years.

I've seen the railroad yards of Kansas City through a radar-scope; the Empire State Building from a Starliner fighter flying upside down; the lights of Paris at sundown and San Diego in the pink flush of dawn.

I cannot tell you of the rhythm, or the beauty, but a 19-year-old boy can. Joe Craven, of Denver, wrote a note to me telling me that Tom Tynan is getting well and with it he enclosed a poem written by a boy named John Gillespie Magee Jr.

Magee was a bright-eyed Yankee youngster who enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in World War II. He was the son of a Washington minister and, in the beauty of flying, he wrote these words:

"Oh, I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silver wings;
Sunward I've climbed and joined the tumbling mirth
Of sun-split clouds — and done a hundred things
You have not dreamed of — wheeled and soared and swung
High in the sunlit silence.
Hovering there,
I've chased the shouting wind along and flung
My eager craft through footless halls of air.
Up, up the long delirious burning blue
I've topped the wind-swept heights with easy grace,
Where never lark, or even eagle, flew;
And, while with silent lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand, and touched the face of God."

The boy has said it, when I could not. He gives me the sense of soaring without strain; of the vast reaches of robin's egg blue; of the sweet sad loneliness of a boy playing with a man's toy.

Young Magee was killed in action in the Christmas season. He had touched the face of God. In turn, he had been touched . . .

Two other important states also elected Catholic governors — Pat Brown in California and Mike Di Salle in Ohio, both outstanding men.

In Ohio, once a stronghold of the Ku Klux Klan, no Catholic, a few years ago, had a chance. But after Frank Lausche, a Catholic, proved such a popular governor that he was re-elected four times Ohioans got over their fear that the Pope would move into the State House at Columbus.

In Connecticut last week the people of that largely Catholic state turned round and re-elected a Jewish governor, Abe Ribicoff, by the largest plurality in the state's history. Indirectly, this was an answer to the hate-mongers who bombed the synagogue in Atlanta.

The four new Catholic Senators are Phil Hart of Michigan, Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, and Ed Muskie of Maine, all Democrats, all fine men. The victory of Congressman McCarthy in Protestant Minnesota is especially significant. For McCarthy, from the city of St. Paul, defeated an able Republican, Sen. Ed Thyne, a former governor. Religion was raised by some voters privately, but when the votes were counted, the majority had put religion on the sidelines.

Simultaneously, three Catholic candidates, Democrats, were defeated. Maryland, first settled by Catholics fleeing from England, defeated Mayor D'Alesandro of Baltimore, running for the Senate. Religion, however, was not an issue. Maryland had previously elected a Catholic governor, Herbert O'Connor, later made him Senator.

Religion Can Boomerang

Democrat Frank Hogan, Manhattan District Attorney, was defeated in New York, and in this case religion was an issue — in reverse. Some Protestant and Jewish voters got sore at the insistence of Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany, that a Catholic must run for the Senate. De Sapio, barred Tom Finletter, a Protestant, and non-Catholic voters resented it. Congressman Kenneth Keating, a Republican and a Mason, defeated Hogan in this undisguised bid for "the Catholic vote."

This highlights the fact that the choice of candidates by religion can boomerang. When voters feel that a man is picked because of his religion rather than his ability, they can react vigorously. There was some early resentment in Connecticut against Governor Ribicoff, a Jew, hand-picking Tom Dodd, a Catholic, to run for the Senate, but this evaporated before election.

Last week's demonstration of nonsectarian balloting should help the presidential aspirations of Massachusetts' Sen. Jack Kennedy. Here again, if voters are judging a candidate not on his religion but on qualifications, Kennedy's youth may be against him. As a Senator, he did not at first live up to his publicity agent. He straddled issues and voted wrong. Latterly he has become farsighted, courageous, has grown in stature. But he is still young.

His greatest handicap may be his father, one of the wealthiest men in the USA, who increased his fortune by securing the agency of one of the top Scotch whiskey brands right after prohibition. The New York election showed that wealth does not need to be a political handicap. But Rockefeller's father is a militant dry, Kennedy's father a militant wet, who not only contributed heavily to the late Sen. Joe McCarthy, but arranged meetings at his Cape Cod home between McCarthy and Cardinal Spellman. This was probably why young Kennedy never stood up to be counted against Senator McCarthy — a fact which Mrs. Roosevelt hasn't let the public forget.

Kennedy, however, has become an A-1 Senator, and if the Democrats nominate a Catholic for president, the American people have come a long way from the Herbert Hoover-Al Smith campaign of 1928. The outcome may be far different.

Election Highlights And Sideights

Election Moral 1: It doesn't pay to buck your husband. Minnesota's Mrs. Coya Knutson, who refused to retire from Congress at the request of her husband, was badly defeated. . . . Election Moral 2: No Congressman in the south will run on a "moderation" segregation ticket for years to come. They saw what happened to Congressman Brooks Hays, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, when he advocated moderation in segregation, not "rootin' tootin'" segregation. He lost to an ear-eye-and-nose doctor in a write-in vote. . . . McCarthyism is dead in Wisconsin. The tremendous avalanche of Democratic votes proved this. Only Fred Zimmerman, Republican Secretary of State, was re-elected. Zimmerman, onetime member of the Ku Klux Klan, had repented, divorced himself completely from Kluxism and McCarthyism.

McCarthyism is also dead in Colorado, where Democrat Byron Johnson, former economics professor who candidly admitted he was a pacifist, defeated Republican state Representative John Mackie. . . . Nebraska, which has the highest percentage of Republican newspapers of all the 48 states, knocked its only two Republican Congressmen out of office and seems to have elected a Democratic governor. The Omaha World-Herald, which covers Nebraska with Republican doctrine as the Democratic Atlanta Journal "covers Dixie like dew," apparently couldn't influence Nebraska voters. . . . One reason for the defeat of Gov. Robert Holmes, Oregon Democrat, was the backstage bickering of the two Democratic Senators from Oregon — Neuberger and Morse. . . . The two politicians who went widest of the mark in their predictions were Vice President Nixon and ex-President Truman. Nixon kept repeating that the Republicans were in for a big and pleasant surprise. They were surprised, but not pleasantly. Harry Truman kept warning the Democrats to be careful about repetition of 1948. Don't trust the polls, he said. . . . Incidentally, the polls this time were accurate.

By Jim Bishop

There is poetry in flight. There is rhythm and meter and I am not good enough, as a writer, to explain it. I can feel it. There is a rusty seagull who comes to rest on a pole over my dock in the winter. He has a lonely cry and food is so scarce that, at low tide, he sometimes digs for clams in the river and drops them on the macadam road and eats from the broken shell.

I watch him come up river on the cold wind, the dirty white wings wide against the military gray sky, and he makes his big turn against the wind and comes toward the six-inch pole with his head cocked, measuring it with his good eye. The wings make one or two extra flaps, then his landing gear comes down, orange from knee to toes, and the wings curve steeply, as he arches his neck, and the feet stop on top of the pole.

He plucks his breast and looks worriedly up and down. If there are no fish, he cries against the cold of winter and scans the river for an old head of lettuce, a floating teabag, the shell of a grapefruit. He needs twice his weight in food every day. Sometimes he makes long low passes at a log swinging on the tides.

I watch planes too. I've been flying since February 1930 and I cannot resist the sound of engines. The silvery DC-7s and the Jetstream Conquest come in low over Sea Bright and they make their final turns seaward and down into Idlewild Airport. At night, over the dark Atlantic, they are nervous fireflies, blinking red and green in an inkwell of space, as they thunder louder and louder, and then move on to a growl, then a whisper and disappear with a small flirtatious wink in the east.

Over the Gulf of Mexico, Elinor and I have looked backward from a DC-6 and we have been Popocatepetl with ermine on its shoulders 175 miles away. I have seen the skyscrapers of Houston from a jet bomb 40,000 feet in the sky at high noon. The walls of Jerusalem swept under the wing of a tired old DC-3 and I could not believe that the two were separated by 2,000 years.

I've seen the railroad yards of Kansas City through a radar-scope; the Empire State Building from a Starfire fighter flying upside down; the lights of Paris at sundown and San Diego in the pink flush of dawn.

I cannot tell you of the rhythm, or the beauty, but a 19-year-old boy can. Joe Craven, of Denver, wrote a note to me telling me that Tom Tynan is getting well and with it he enclosed a poem written by a boy named John Gillespie Magee Jr.

Magee was a bright-eyed Yankee youngster who enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in World War II. He was the son of a Washington minister and, in the beauty of flying, he wrote these words:

"Oh, I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;
Sunward I've climbed and joined the tumbling mirth
Of sun-split clouds — and done a hundred things
You have not dreamed of — wheeled and soared and swung
High in the sunlit silence.
Hovering there,
I've chased the shouting wind along and flung
My eager craft through footless halls of air.
Up, up the long delirious burning blue
I've topped the wind-swept heights with easy grace,
Where never lark, or even eagle, flew:
And, while with silent lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand and touched — the face of God."

The boy has said it, when I could not. He gives me the sense of soaring without strain; of the vast reaches of robin's egg blue; of the sweet sad loneliness of a boy playing with a man's toy.

Young Magee was killed in action in the Christmas season. He had touched the face of God. In turn, he had been touched. . . .

Giants Halt Baltimore, 24-21, Before N.Y. Record Crowd

Colts Suffer First Defeat Before 71,163

Pat Summerall's Field Goal Breaks 21-21 Deadlock

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants stormed into a first place tie with Cleveland in the National Football League's Eastern Conference Sunday, defeating the Baltimore Colts 24-21 before 71,163 Yankee Stadium spectators. It was the largest crowd ever to witness a professional football game in New York.

Pat Summerall's 28-yard field goal with 22 minutes and 20 seconds of the final period remaining snapped a 21-21 tie and gave the Western Conference leading Colts their first defeat of the campaign.

The Colts had won their first six games. Sunday's victory was the Giants' fifth against two defeats, matching the record of the Browns, who lost their second straight, a 30-10 defeat by Detroit. It was the Giants, too, who last week handed the Browns their first loss of the season.

George Shaw, filling in for the injured Johnny Unitas at quarterback, accounted for all three Baltimore scores, throwing three touchdown passes, two to Lennie Moore and one to Ray Berry. The former Oregon star's performance, however, was matched by the Giants' triple threat of Charlie Conerly, Alex Webster and Frank Gifford. Conerly tossed a 25-yard touchdown and Gifford, playing his first game in three weeks, swept around end for a 13-yard touchdown.

Rams Belt Frisco, 56-7

95,082 See Forty Niners Crushed

By BOB MYERS
Associate Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams, exploding like a pack of firecrackers, all but blew the San Francisco 49ers out of a near-packed Memorial Coliseum Sunday with a 56-7 rout.

Delighting most of the huge crowd of 95,082, the Rams rang up eight touchdowns to hand the 9ers the worst beating in the bitter, eight-year rivalry between the clubs.

Quarterback Billy Wade ignited most of the explosives, throwing four touchdown passes and running end for 17 yards for another. The Rams had hoped for an all-time National Football League attendance record of some 106,200, and extra seats were installed to handle the crowd.

The Rams got out in front in the first two minutes. The aerial combination of Wade and Del Shofner got together for the first of two sensational plays, a 64-yard pass-run play.

Later the same pair connected on the same pattern for 72 yards. Each pass was short and it was speedy ex-Baylor star who earned the laurels.

The defensive Ram platoon set up two touchdowns with pass interceptions, and Will Sherman on another interception raced unopposed 70 yards for a touchdown. San Francisco 0 7 0 0-7

St. Louis Cardinals Cop Ninth In Japan

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan (AP)—Outfielder Smokey Joe Cunningham provided the batting power behind right-hander Larry Jackson's tight two hit pitching as the St. Louis Cardinals crushed the Japan All-Stars 7-1 Sunday. It was the Redbirds' ninth win in 11 starts.

Some 20,000 fans saw Cunningham put the ball game on ice in the opening inning when he hit a homer into the bleachers with two runners on base after two outs.

The Cardinals' lead off on four Japanese pitchers for 13 hits. Cunningham added two singles to his homer.

Jackson, who went seven full innings, was credited with his third straight win against the local All-Stars.

St. Patrick's won the first game of the series from SS. Peter & Paul by the score of 20-13.

A 20-yard pass from McElfish to O'Rourke, who advanced to the four, paved the way for SS. Peter & Paul first score. On the next play McElfish sprinted into the end zone. The pass for the extra point was no good.

O'Toole intercepted a pass and ran 25 yards for SS. Peter & Paul second touchdown early in the third quarter. McElfish's plunge for the point made the score 13-0. St. Patrick's score was chalked up in the same period on Lance's 5-yard pass to Van Horn.

Terry Gets Two In 4th

McElfish, the "Bean Cove Flash," galloped 28 yards for his second tie shortly after the final period got under way. He also ran the extra point. O'Rourke recovered a St. Patrick's fumble on SS. Peter & Paul 30. McElfish dashed 45 yards to St. Patrick's 5 and scored the game's final six-pointer on the next play. The pass for point failed.

Charles O'Rourke, Dale Clayton, Green and Fields were the defensive stars and Terry McElfish and "Skip" Ruppert were best on offense for the winners. Lueck, Richard Ames and John Horn starred for St. Patrick's. The latter suffered a leg injury in the third period and was forced to retire. The lineups:

Final Quarter Rallies Decide Saturday Tilts

LaSalle, Potomac State, Lions Win

LaSalle High School's Explorers notched their first win of the season at home by edging Moorefield High's Yellowjackets, 14-13, the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney completed a perfect season with an 8-0 record by trimming the Mt. Airy School for the Deaf at Philadelphia, 19-7, and Potomac State College reeled off its third straight victory at the expense of the Newport News (Va.) Apprentice School, at Keyser, 12-7, in football games staged Saturday.

Joe Footen's placement for the extra point in the fourth period after a 35-yard pass play by Carroll Wilt and Jack Bahen had knotted the score with 30 seconds remaining was LaSalle's margin of victory over the West Virginians in the Saturday night contest here.

Footen's conversion broke LaSalle's 5-game losing streak. Moorefield scored two touchdowns and LaSalle one in the second quarter. Jimmy Paugh scored on a sneak, Jack Bean tallied from the 10 and Jimmy Paugh kicked the extra point for the Jackets to give the visitors a 13-0 advantage. Rich Murray scored from the one for the Explorers and Footen kicked the extra point.

Trailing 7-0, Coach Donald Bullock's Romney Lions racked up 19 points in the final period at Philadelphia to keep their record unblemished. Larry Jones scored two touchdowns, on runs of 12 and 32 yards and Vic Shade sprinted 40 yards for the other six-pointer. Curtis Collins plunged for the extra point. Mt. Airy's touchdown and extra point came in the first period.

Jerry Kelican's pass to Ed Vannetter in the last minute of play produced the touchdown that enabled Potomac State to come from behind and defeat Newport News in a thriller at Keyser. The Catamounts took a 6-0 lead in the third period on a 61-yard run by George Malt but the Virginians forged ahead in the final stanza when Evans scored from the one and Rafiel snared Wright's pass for the extra point.

In other Saturday games, Handley High of Winchester, Va., which plays Beall High at Frostburg Friday night, walloped Harrisonburg High, 39-6, and Bedford High's Bisons went down before Westmont High at Johnstown, 27-8.

Redskins Trim Cards, 45-31

LeBaron's Passing Highlights Battle

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tiny Eddie LeBaron, commanding his forces with imagination and deception, directed the Washington Redskins in a first-half onslaught that gave them the bulge needed for a 45-31 victory over the Chicago Cards Sunday.

Lamar McHan, LeBaron's quarterback counterpart, dropped aerial bombs on the Redskins in the second half but the Cards couldn't make up for the ground they already had lost.

Washington had won only three of seven games before Sunday.

The Redskins, with LeBaron the chief executioner, had killed Chicago on the first play of the game. That was a 66-yard pass from LeBaron to Jim Podoley which set up Johnny Olszewski's touchdown plunge.

At the half Washington led 38-10 and the damage was done to the Cards, whose comeback effort behind McHan's passes fell short. McHan, replacing rookie M. C. Reynolds in the second period, hurled a 14-yard scoring pass to Vern Nagler before the half ended. Later he hit Wodley Lewis on overhead thrusts of 58 yards and 34 yards to the end zone and Ollie Matson on an 8-yard touchdown toss.

Record Unblemished
LSU, the nation's No. 2 team, kept its record unblemished with its spectacular win over Duke and Rutgers, the only other unbeaten and untied major team in the land, increased its record to 7-0 with an 18-0 decision over Lafayette.

Third-ranked Army scored in the last 51 seconds to beat Rice, 14-7; fourth-ranked Auburn, ineligible for a bowl bid but eager to win the mythical national championship, walloped Mississippi State, 33-14; Pittsburgh scored with 11 seconds left to topple 10th-ranked Notre Dame 29-16; 11th-ranked Mississippi ran it up on Houston, 56-7; 16th-ranked North Carolina ripped Virginia, 42-0, and 19th-ranked Georgia Tech defeated 18th-ranked Clemson, 13-0, in other games involving national powers and bowl aspirants.

Rose Bowl Berth Goes To Hawkeyes

LSU, Oklahoma, Syracuse Remain In The Running

Iowa is definitely in the Rose Bowl and it appears only a formality before Louisiana State, Oklahoma and Syracuse clinch other lucrative bowl dates.

Iowa, the nation's No. 1 team, clinched the Big Ten's invitation to Pasadena, Calif., Saturday when it beat Minnesota, 28-6, on the strength of brilliant performances by halfback Willie Fleming and quarterback Randy Duncan. The Hawkeyes' second trip in three years to the Rose Bowl became a certainty when sixth-ranked Northwestern lost to seventh-ranked Wisconsin, 17-13, and ninth-ranked Ohio State tied eighth-ranked Purdue, 14-14.

LSU Wallops Duke
LSU remained on the high road to the Southeastern Conference's Sugar Bowl berth with a 50-18 rout of Duke Saturday night; Oklahoma moved to within one more victory of the Big Eight's Orange Bowl bid with a 20-0 triumph over Iowa State and Syracuse moved solidly into line for the Cotton Bowl invitation opposite the Southwest Conference champion via its 42-0 romp over Boston University on Friday night.

Iowa's Rose Bowl opponent remains in doubt, however, because Washington State upset Oregon State, 7-0, while California beat UCLA, 20-17. California now leads the conference with a 4-1 record, Washington State is second at 5-2 and Oregon State ranks third at 4-2.

Record Unblemished
LSU, the nation's No. 2 team, kept its record unblemished with its spectacular win over Duke and Rutgers, the only other unbeaten and untied major team in the land, increased its record to 7-0 with an 18-0 decision over Lafayette.

Third-ranked Army scored in the last 51 seconds to beat Rice, 14-7; fourth-ranked Auburn, ineligible for a bowl bid but eager to win the mythical national championship, walloped Mississippi State, 33-14; Pittsburgh scored with 11 seconds left to topple 10th-ranked Notre Dame 29-16; 11th-ranked Mississippi ran it up on Houston, 56-7; 16th-ranked North Carolina ripped Virginia, 42-0, and 19th-ranked Georgia Tech defeated 18th-ranked Clemson, 13-0, in other games involving national powers and bowl aspirants.

Colts Suffer First Defeat Before 71,163

Pat Summerall's Field Goal Breaks 21-21 Deadlock

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants stormed into a first place tie with Cleveland in the National Football League's Eastern Conference Sunday, defeating the Baltimore Colts 24-21 before 71,163 Yankee Stadium spectators. It was the largest crowd ever to witness a professional football game in New York.

Pat Summerall's 28-yard field goal with 22 minutes and 20 seconds of the final period remaining snapped a 21-21 tie and gave the Western Conference leading Colts their first defeat of the campaign.

The Colts had won their first six games. Sunday's victory was the Giants' fifth against two defeats, matching the record of the Browns, who lost their second straight, a 30-10 defeat by Detroit. It was the Giants, too, who last week handed the Browns their first loss of the season.

George Shaw, filling in for the injured Johnny Unitas at Quarterback, accounted for all three Baltimore scores, throwing three touchdowns passes, two to Lennie Moore and one to Ray Berry.

The former Oregon star's performance, however, was matched by the Giants' triple threat of Charlie Conerly, Alex Webster and Frank Gifford. Conerly tossed a 25-yard touchdown and Gifford playing his first game in three weeks, swept around end for a 13-yard touchdown.

Rams Belt Frisco, 56-7

95,082 See Forty Niners Crushed

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, exploding like a pack of firecrackers, all but blew the San Francisco 49ers out of a near-packed Memorial Coliseum Sunday with a 56-7 rout.

Delighting most of the huge crowd of 95,082, the Rams rang up eight touchdowns to hand the 9ers the worst beating in the bitter, eight-year rivalry between the clubs.

Quarterback Billy Wade ignited most of the explosives, throwing four touchdown passes and running end for 17 yards for another. The Rams had hoped for an all-time National Football League attendance record of some 106,200, and extra seats were installed to handle the crowd.

The Rams got out in front in the first two minutes. The aerial combination of Wade and Del Shofner got together for the first of two sensational plays, a 64-yard pass-run play.

Later the same pair connected on the same pattern for 72 yards. Each pass was short and it was speedy ex-Baylor star who earned the laurels.

The defensive Ram platoon set up two touchdowns with pass interceptions, and Will Sherman on another interception raced unopposed 70 yards for a touchdown. San Francisco 0 7 0 0-7
Los Angeles 21 14 14 7-56

San Francisco: TD, Perry (64 pass from Tittle), PAT, Soltau.

Los Angeles: TD, Shofner 2 (64 and 72 passes from Wade), Phillips (22 pass from Wade), Arnett (10 run), Wade (17 run), Clarke (12 pass from Wade), Sherman (70 pass interception), Lundy (16 pass from Ryan), PAT, Cotren 8.

St. Louis Cardinals Cop Ninth In Japan

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan (AP) — Outfielder Smokey Joe Cunningham provided the batting power behind right-hander Larry Jackson's tight two hit pitching as the St. Louis Cardinals crushed the Japan All-Stars 7-1 Sunday. It was the Redbirds' ninth win in 11 starts.

Some 20,000 fans saw Cunningham put the ball game on ice in the opening inning when he hit a homer into the bleachers with two runners on base after two outs.

The Cardinals' lead off on four Japanese pitchers for 13 hits. Cunningham added two singles to his homer.

Jackson, who went seven full innings, was credited with his third straight win against the local All-Stars.

Coach Bob Mattingly's SS. Peter & Paul gridders avenged an earlier season defeat by beating St. Patrick's by the score of 26-6 yesterday at Maryland and tied up the race for the football championship in the Catholic Youth League.

Terry "Country Boy" McElfish, the league's leading scorer, racked up 20 of the winning team's 26 points by registering three touchdowns and two conversions to up his season total to 49 tallies in three games. He has seven touchdowns and seven extra points to his credit. O'Toole scored the other tie for the "Dutchmen" while Van Horn accounted for the lone six-pointer made by the "Fighting Irish."

Game Set For Tuesday
St. Patrick's could have captured the title for the second straight year had they bagged this one. Two more games appear on the schedule. St. Patrick's will play St. Mary's Tuesday at 3:30 p.m., at Maryland and SS. Peter & Paul will meet St. Mary's Sunday at 2 p.m., on the same field. If the race ends in a tie there will be a playoff contest for the championship.

St. Patrick's won the first game of the series from SS. Peter and Paul by the score of 20-13.

A 20-yard pass from McElfish to O'Rourke, who advanced to the four, paved the way for SS. Peter & Paul first score.

On the next play McElfish sprinted into the end zone. The pass for the extra point was no good.

O'Toole intercepted a pass and ran 25 yards for SS. Peter & Paul second touchdown early in the third quarter. McElfish's plunge for the point made the score 13-0.

St. Patrick's score was chalked up in the same period on Lance's 5-yard pass to Van Horn.

Terry Gets Two In 4th
McElfish, the "Bean's Cove Flash," galloped 28 yards for his second TD shortly after the first period got under way. He also ran the extra point. O'Rourke recovered a St. Patrick's fumble on SS. Peter & Paul 30. McElfish dashed 45 yards to St. Patrick's 5 and scored the game's final six-pointer on the next play. The pass for point failed.

Charles O'Rourke, Dale Clayton, Green and Fields were the defensive stars and Terry McElfish and "Skip" Ruppert were best on offense for the winners.

Final Quarter Rallies Decide Saturday Tilts

LaSalle, Potomac State, Lions Win

LaSalle High School's Explorers notched their first win of the season at home by edging Moorefield High's Yellowjackets, 14-13, the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney completed a perfect season with an 8-0 record by trimming the Mt. Airy School for the Deaf at Philadelphia, 19-7, and Potomac State College reeled off its third straight victory at the expense of the Newport News (Va.) Apprentice School, at Keyser, 12-7, in football games staged Saturday.

Joe Footen's placement for the extra point in the fourth period after a 35-yard pass play by Carroll Wilt and Jack Bahen had knotted the score with 30 seconds remaining was LaSalle's margin of victory over the West Virginians in the Saturday night contest here.

Footen's conversion broke LaSalle's 5-game losing streak.

Moorefield scored two touchdowns and LaSalle one in the second quarter. Jimmy Paugh scored on a sneak, Jack Bean knotted from the 10 and Jimmy Paugh kicked the extra point for the Jackets to give the visitors a 13-0 advantage. Rich Murray scored from the one for the Explorers and Footen kicked the extra point.

Trailing 7-0, Coach Donald Bullock's Romney Lions racked up 19 points in the final period at Philadelphia to keep their record unblemished. Larry Jones scored two touchdowns, on runs of 12 and 32 yards and Vic Shade sprinted 40 yards for the other six-pointer. Curtis Collins plunged for the extra point. Mt. Airy's touchdown and extra point came in the first period.

Jerry Kelican's pass to Ed Vannier in the last minute of play produced the touchdown that enabled Potomac State to come from behind and defeat Newport News in a thriller at Keyser. The Catamounts took a 6-0 lead in the third period on a 61-yard run by George Malt but the Virginians forged ahead in the final stanza when Evans scored from the one and Rafied snared Wright's pass for the extra point.

In other Saturday games, Handley High of Winchester, Va., which plays Beall High at Frostburg Friday night, walloped Harrisonburg High, 39-6, and Bedford High's Bisons went down before Westmont High at Johnston, 27-8.

Redskins Trim Cards, 45-31

LeBaron's Passing Highlights Battle

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tiny Eddie LeBaron, commanding his forces with imagination and deception, directed the Washington Redskins in a first-half onslaught that gave them the bulge needed for a 45-31 victory over the Chicago Cards Sunday.

Lamar McHan, LeBaron's quarterback counterpart, dropped aerial bombs on the Redskins in the second half but the Cards couldn't make up for the ground they already had lost.

Washington had won only three of seven games before Sunday.

The Redskins, with LeBaron the chief executioner, had killed Chicago on the first play of the game. That was a 66-yard pass from LeBaron to Jim Podoley which set up Johnny Olszewski's touchdown plunge.

At the half Washington led 38-10 and the damage was done to the Cards, whose comeback effort behind McHan's passes fell short. McHan, replacing rookie M. C. Reynolds in the second period, hurled a 14-yard scoring pass to Vern Nagler before the half ended. Later he hit Wodley Lewis on overhead thrusts of 38 yards and 34 yards to the end zone and Ollie Matson on an 8-yard touchdown pass.

Cleveland Is Handed 30-10 Loss By Detroit

Tobin Rote Passes For 3 TDs, Martin Boots Three Goals

By CLETE JONES

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sharpshooting Tobin Rote threw three touchdown passes and Jim Martin chipped in with three field goals as the Detroit Lions humbled the Cleveland Browns 30-10 Sunday.

The loss dropped the Browns into a tie for the lead in the National Football League's Eastern Conference. Cleveland's 5-2 record was matched by the New York Giants, who defeated the Baltimore Colts 24-21.

An inspired Detroit defense held Cleveland's Jim Brown to 83 yards rushing in 21 attempts, his lowest total of the season.

The 30-year-old Rote, veteran of nine years in the league, completed 17 of 30 passes good for 246 yards.

The only consolation for Cleveland was the crowd of 75,563, which brought the season total in Municipal Stadium to 286,222 for four games.

It was the Browns worst defeat since the NFL title game at Detroit last December. The Lions scored a 59-14 runaway triumph in that one. The Browns still haven't won a regular season contest from the Lions.

Rote threw his TD passes to a trio of receivers. He hit Jim Gibbons with a 4-yard scoring pass in the second quarter and Howard Cassidy in a play that covered 34 yards in the same period, when the Lions tallied 17 points.

Martin, the former Notre Dame star who once played for the Browns, booted field goals of 48, 43 and 37 yards and also kicked three conversions.

Lou Groza got an 11-yard field goal for Cleveland in the second period. Milt Plum passed 12 yards to Ray Renfro in the closing minutes of the game for the Browns' only touchdown.

Ireland's Ballymoss Is 8-5 Favorite In International

$70,000 Goes To Winner In Tuesday Race

Clem, Tudor Era Are Hopes Of U.S. In Laurel Classic

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The Russians are here, and so is Ballymoss, the Irish colt who is the champion of Europe to race in the $100,000 International on Tuesday. Ten horses from assorted countries have invaded the Free State of Maryland for what may well be the greatest running of the mile and one-half scramble over the Laurel grass course.

The International was inaugurated in 1952, and thanks to fast airliners has become one of the world's most interesting horse races.

Ballymoss is the 8 to 5 early favorite to become the first Irish colt to win the International which is worth $70,000 to the lucky owner. The 4-year-old, however, is owned by John McShain, a Philadelphia builder who is responsible for the $3 million dollar Pentagon in Washington.

The two richest races in Europe, the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Royal Ascot, and the Grand Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe at Longchamp in Paris, were mere gallops for Ballymoss. If he wins the International, Ballymoss will sweep the global triple crown.

Spice is added by the presence of the Soviet duo, Garnir and Zaryad. Garnir won the Moscow Derby in June, and Zaryad was the runnerup. Recalling the Olympic games, ice hockey, basketball and other sports, the Russians don't venture abroad unless they believe they are going to come close.

Two U.S. Horses Entered
Clem, the game little galloper owned by Mrs. Adele L. Rand of Santa Fe, N. M., and Tudor Era, a veteran turf performer owned by Mrs. Herbert Herff of Memphis, Tenn., and Palm Beach, Fla. are the United States hopes.

Sailor's Guide, called the best handicap horse to leave Australia since Phar Lap in the early 1930s, is another to reckon with, along with Tharp, an Irish colt owned by Carleton H. Palmer of New York City and Orsini, the German champion owned by Baron Henry Thyssen.

Julius Boros Cops Title

Repeats In Atlanta Open, Earns $8,500

By JIM LAXSON

ATLANTA, Ga.—Julius Boros fought gusty winds and a strong challenge by Billy Casper Jr. Sunday to win the Atlanta Open Golf Tournament with a final round two-over-par 74 and a 284 total. Boros, former winner of the U.S. Open the Tam O'Shanter World crown, pocketed $3,500 first prize money plus a bonus of $5,000 as a repeat winner of the event which formerly was held in other cities.

The Moose from Mid Pines, N.C., carried a two stroke lead into the final round over runner-up Casper, current second ranked PGA winner, and two other young pups, Ernie Vossler, Midland, Tex., and Bob Watson, Ardley-on-Hudson, N.Y. Casper finished with 286.

Vossler and Watson faltered to 291 and 290 respectively and only Casper, a master putter from Apple Valley, Calif., was a contender at the close.

Bracketed with Tommy Bolt, Boros and Casper took 38s on the front nine and both carded even par 36s on the back side as gusty 10 to 25 m.p.h. winds whipped over the 72 7,004-yard Cherokee Country Club layout.

Bill Collins, unattached and relatively unknown pro from Baltimore, came in third with a 287 and Pete Cooper, seldom-playing pro from Lakeland, Fla., and El Paso's Fred Hawkins were fourth with 288s.

Clifton Metts Takes Soccer Scoring Title

Leads WMI With 15, Clingerman Second

Clifton "Tippy" Metts, of Valley High School, Lonaconing, paced the scorers of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League for the 1958 season by chalking up a total of 15 field goals.

Twice during the season Metts scored five goals in one game, the first time against Flintstone and the second time against Beall.

Reed Clingerman, who accounted for nine of the eleven points credited to Flintstone High School, was the runner-up in the scoring race with four field goals and five penalty goals. Jim Duncan of Beall scored seven points, five coming on penalties, and tied Ronnie Chicchitto of Bruce for third place. The latter booted seven goals from the field.

The league's all-time high for goals in one season was set in 1931 by Arone DiUbaldo, of Bruce, who collected a total of 28-22 fielders and 6-8 penalties. Chester Marsh, also of Bruce, hung up the league's single game record of 10 goals in 1932. He scored seven from the field and 3-4 from the penalty mark.

Valley's 27 points was the team high this season while the best defensive record was credited to Bruce which limited opposing teams to six points in eight games—field goals and one penalty goal. Flintstone yielded the most points—23 and Mt. Savage was a close second with 21. Mt. Savage scored only five points.

Individual point scoring for the season:

Layne Sparks Pittsburgh To 31-24 Victory

Bobby Tosses Four Touchdown Passes

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Layne and halfback Tom Tracy had a game of pitch and catch as the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Philadelphia Eagles 31-24 in a National Football League game in Franklin Field Sunday.

The veteran Layne tossed four touchdown passes, three to the sure-handed Tracy and the other to Ray Matthews. Tracy, who completed a 65-yard pass to set up a first period field goal, caught 5 passes for 116 yards in Pittsburgh's second win of the season over its intrastate rival.

Tied 17-17 in the third quarter, Layne and Tracy combined to break the game open for the Steelers. With the help of a roughing the kicker penalty and a 31-yard completion from Layne to Tracy, the Steelers moved 78 yards on 11 plays for the lead touchdown. The payoff pitch was a 34-yarder, Layne to Matthews.

A few minutes later, Pittsburgh, now 3-4, in the Eastern Conference of the NFL, wrapped up the game as the Layne-Tracy duo went into action again.

The sharpshooting quarterback spotted the former Tennessee ace in the clear and fired a 40-yard TD pass into his mitts. The fourth of Tom Miner's conversions made it 21-17, a deficit the last Eagles (1-5) never overcame.

The Eagles, who led briefly at 7-3 after the first quarter, scored on a TD pass from Bill Barnes to Pete Retzlaff, Bobby Walston's 16-yard field goal, Barnes' 3-yard smash for a third period touchdown, and a last-minute 10-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Norman Van Brocklin to Tommy McDonald.

Bears Conquer Packers, 24-10, Gain On Colts

Casares, Blanda Star For Chicago

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Fullback Rick Casares, quarterback George Blanda and the tremendous efforts of the defensive team helped the Chicago Bears carve out a 24-10 victory over the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

The triumph pulled the Bears within one game of the league leading Baltimore Colts who lost to New York 24-21.

Unable to get their offense rolling in the first quarter, the Bears called on Blanda, their place kicking specialist, to direct the attack in the second quarter. George led the Bears to their first touchdown. It was his first appearance of the season as quarterback.

Casares broke the game open in the third quarter with a 64-yard touchdown gallop and set up a Blanda-made field goal in the final quarter when he took a short pass and pounded 52 yards to the Green Bay 8. The big fullback totaled 113 yards rushing for the day.

The Bear defenders kept Green Bay quarterbacks Bart Starr and Babe Parilli off balance. An intercepted pass by Jack Johnson set up Chicago's first touchdown and in the third quarter tackle Fred Williams hit Starr so hard in the end zone that the Packer quarterback fumbled and tackle Bill Bishop recovered for a touchdown and a comfortable 21-3 Bear lead.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1 — As South, the dealer, you hold:

♠ 9 8 6 4 2 ♥ 7 ♦ 10 4 2 ♣ A J

What is your opening bid?

A.—Pass. While this hand ostensibly contains 13 points, enough for an optional opening, flaws are present in the form of the unguarded queen of hearts and the A-J doubton in clubs. There is the further consideration that no convenient rebid will be available if partner responds with 2 hearts over a 1 spade opening. Discretion, therefore, dictates a pass.

Q. 2 — As South you hold:

♠ K ♥ 6 3 ♦ K Q 1 4 3 2 ♣ K Q 4 3

Your partner opens with two no trump. What is your response?

A.—Four clubs. This is the type of holding that calls for the use of Gerber. All of your problems can be solved by ascertaining the number of partner's aces. If he responds with 4 diamonds, showing all four, you can confidently bid 7 no trump and be prepared to spread your hand after the lead.

Q. 3 — As South you hold:

♠ 7 3 ♥ A Q 6 4 2 ♦ A Q 10 9 7 ♣ K

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's 3 diamond bid is highly constructive since your rebid was not forcing on responder. Game aspirations are indicated.

should therefore be entertained and our choice is for a bid of 4 diamonds. If responder happens to have a hand containing three small hearts he will have the opportunity to try 4 hearts over 4 diamonds. A bid of 3 hearts over 3 diamonds is not our choice because partner might be induced to raise to 4 on some hands containing only two trumps.

Q. 4 — As South you hold:

♠ K 3 ♥ 9 8 7 ♦ A 10 9 6 5 ♣ J 9 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 No tr. Pass	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—You have splendid defense against a no trump contract and should pass. We have not lost sight of partner's previous pass, but in view of the fact that he was willing to double the no trump bid he must be just under an opening bid himself. This means that West will show up with a practically trickless dummy and East will have to operate completely from his own hand.

Q. 5 — Both vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠ K Q 10 7 ♥ 7 ♦ A J 6 3 2 ♣ K 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 clubs	Pass

What do you bid?

A.—A forcing pass is indicated at this point. Your opening two bid was slightly shaded. Partner should be given the opportunity to double 3 clubs if he finds it to his taste. Furthermore, he might be able to bid 3 no trump which could conceivably be the only safe game contract. In any event partner is obliged to act.

Q. 6 — As South you hold:

♠ A 6 3 2 ♥ K 4 3 ♦ A K Q 9 5 ♣ 6

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 clubs	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid and may have only scant values, a jump is not in order. The best strategy calls for a bid of only 2 diamonds. If partner has any values he should make a further bid. If he happens to rebid hearts you may then go on to game in that suit. One should be reluctant to give an immediate raise with only three trumps where partner has been forced to bid.

Q. 7 — As South you hold:

♠ A K Q J 6 ♥ A K 5 ♦ A J 9 7 ♣ 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	2 No tr.	3 clubs

What do you bid now?

A.—A forcing pass is indicated at this point. Your opening two bid was slightly shaded. Partner should be given the opportunity to double 3 clubs if he finds it to his taste. Furthermore, he might be able to bid 3 no trump which could conceivably be the only safe game contract. In any event partner is obliged to act.

Q. 8 — As South you hold:

♠ J 10 6 4 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 5 2 ♣ Q J 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Double

What do you bid now?

A.—With this mediocre hand we recommend no action whatsoever. It is good policy to make it easy for the opponents to take this proposition off your hands. The fear that a heart doubled would be left in is unfounded. It rarely happens and then you must presume that partner can take care of himself.

Q. 9 — As South you hold:

♠ 10 6 4 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 5 2 ♣ Q J 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Double

What do you bid now?

A.—With this mediocre hand we recommend no action whatsoever. It is good policy to make it easy for the opponents to take this proposition off your hands. The fear that a heart doubled would be left in is unfounded. It rarely happens and then you must presume that partner can take care of himself.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1 — As South, the dealer, you hold:

♠ 9 8 6 4 2 ♥ Q 7 ♦ A 10 4 2 ♣ A J

What is your opening bid?

A. — Pass. While this hand ostensibly contains 13 points, enough for an opening bid, it is not a good one. It is the further consideration that no convenient rebid will be available if partner responds with 2 hearts over a 1 spade opening. Discretion, therefore, dictates a pass.

Q. 2 — As South you hold:

♠ K 6 3 ♦ K Q J 4 3 2 ♣ K Q 4 3

our partner opens with two no trump. What is your response?

A. — Four clubs. This is the type of holding that calls for the use of cue-bids. All of your problems can be solved by ascertaining the number of partner's aces. If he responds with 4 diamonds, showing all four, you can confidently bid 7 no trump and be prepared to spread your hand after the lead.

Q. 3 — As South you hold:

♠ 3 ♥ A Q 6 4 2 ♦ A Q 10 9 7 ♣ K

The bidding has proceeded:

South 1 heart West North East
1 heart Pass 1 spade Pass
2 diamonds Pass 3 diamonds Pass

What do you bid now?

A. — Partner's 3 diamond bid is highly constructive since your rebid was not forcing on responder. Game aspirations should therefore be entertained and our choice is for a bid of 4 diamonds. If responder happens to have a hand containing three small hearts he will have the opportunity to try 4 hearts over 4 diamonds. A bid of 3 hearts over 3 diamonds is not our choice because partner might be induced to raise to 4 on some hands containing only two trumps.

Q. 4 — As South you hold:

♠ K 3 ♥ 9 8 7 ♦ A 10 9 6 5 ♣ 1 9 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
Pass 1 No tr. Pass Pass
Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A. — You have splendid defense against a no trump contract and should pass. We have not lost sight of partner's previous pass, but in view of the fact that he was willing to double the no trump bid he must be just under an opening bid himself. This means that West will show up with a practically trickless dummy and East will have to operate completely from his own hand.

Q. 5 — Both vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠ K Q 10 7 ♥ 7 ♦ A J 6 3 2 ♣ K 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 spade Pass 3 No tr. 3 clubs

What do you bid?

A. — A forcing pass is indicated at this point. Your opening two bid was slightly shaded. Partner should be given the opportunity to double 3 clubs if he finds it to his taste. Furthermore, he might be able to bid 3 no trump which could conceivably be the only safe game contract in any event as partner is obliged to act.

A. — Pass. Don't crowd a fellow who might be working for you. Give him plenty of elbow space. Any action by you that tends to impede the opposition is bound to prove to your material detriment.

Q. 6 — As South you hold:

♠ A 6 3 2 ♥ K 4 3 ♦ A K Q 9 5 ♣ 6

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North
1 club Double Pass 1 heart
Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A. — Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid and may have only scant values, a jump is not in order. The best strategy calls for a bid of only 2 diamonds. If partner has any values he should make a further bid. If he happens to rebid hearts you may then go on to game in that suit. One should be reluctant to give an immediate raise with only three trumps where partner has been forced to bid.

Q. 7 — As South you hold:

♠ A K Q J 6 ♥ A K 5 ♦ A J 9 7 ♣ 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
2 spades Pass 3 No tr. 3 clubs

What do you bid now?

A. — A forcing pass is indicated at this point. Your opening two bid was slightly shaded. Partner should be given the opportunity to double 3 clubs if he finds it to his taste. Furthermore, he might be able to bid 3 no trump which could conceivably be the only safe game contract in any event as partner is obliged to act.

Q. 8 — As South you hold:

♠ J 10 6 4 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 5 2 ♣ Q J 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1 heart Double

What do you bid now?

A. — With this mediocre hand we recommend no action whatsoever. It is good policy to make it easy for the opponents to take this proposition off your hands. The fear that 1 heart doubled would be left in is unfounded. It rarely happens and then you must presume that partner can take care of himself.

SUBMARINE-KILLERS

Torpedo to be tested is suspended in cradle on Navy's hydrodynamic simulator and turned loose to "search out enemy submarine."

"If it comes out of the water or goes into the water," technicians at the Naval Ordnance Test Station at Pasadena, Calif., tell you, "chances are we're working on it."

More specifically, they're referring to the underwater ordnance department, where the Navy has concentrated energy and resources on the job of killing submarines.

One of the weapons already thought of by the department's creative powers is RAT (Rocket Assisted Torpedo), which starts in the air like a rocket and ends in the water, a relentless stalker of subs. It is considered the greatest advance in submarine warfare since World War II.

After the sub is picked up by sonar — the destroyer's electronic ear — all firing information is automatically computed. The torpedo, a rocket engine clamped to its lower half, blasts off. At a pre-arranged point the rocket engine falls away, a parachute opens and the torpedo slips into the water miles from the destroyer and sets out for the sub.

In a lake high in the nearby San Gabriel Mountains the department has a device for testing torpedoes and to determine how they perform under given conditions.

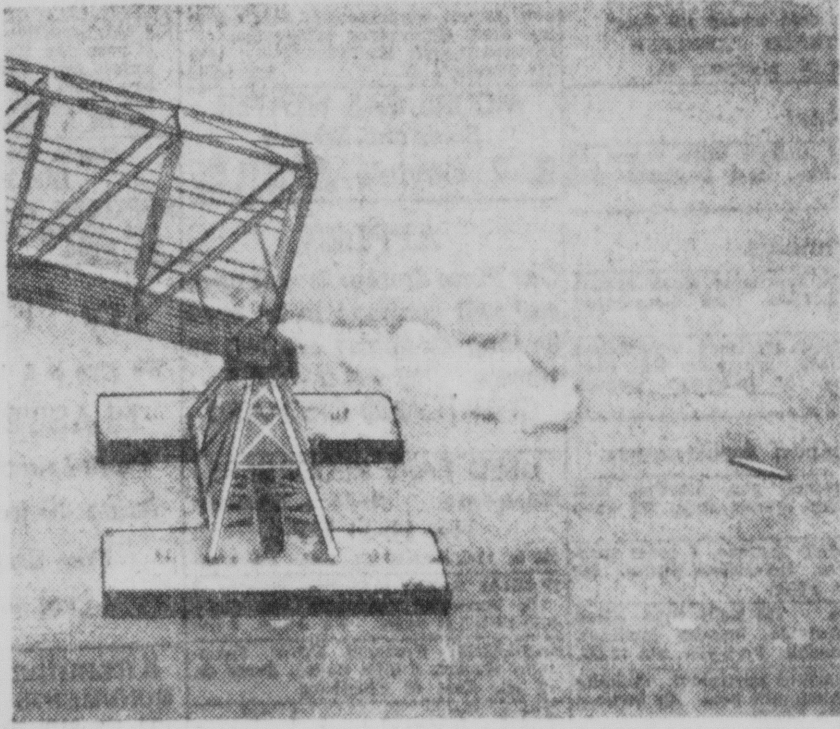

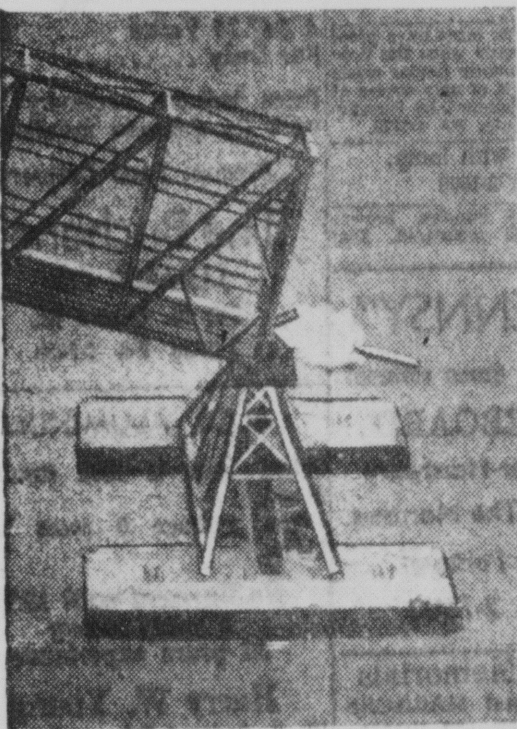

How the anti-sub torpedoes are tested at the Pasadena naval station is pictured here.

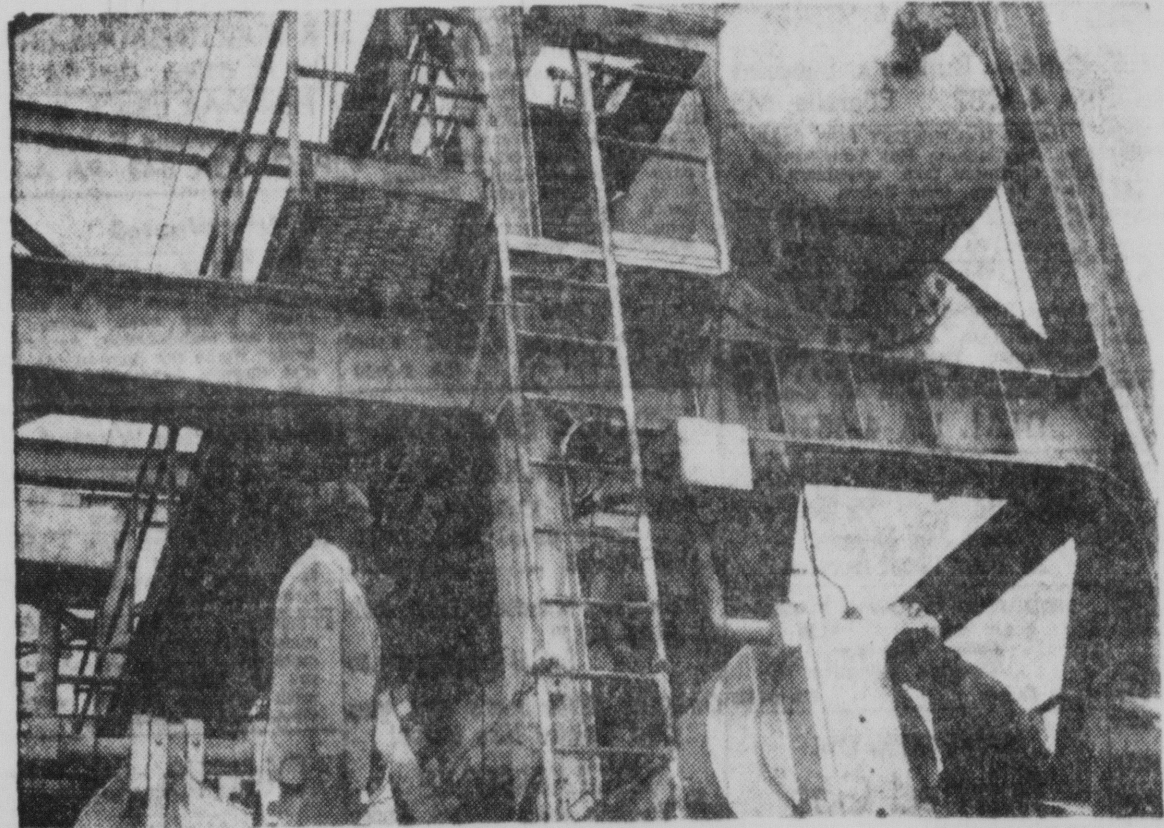

Officials study chart of test conducted on torpedo in hydrodynamic simulator. Pointers connected to torpedo and "submarine" by means of wires and test panels ink in on chart path of torpedo and submarine.

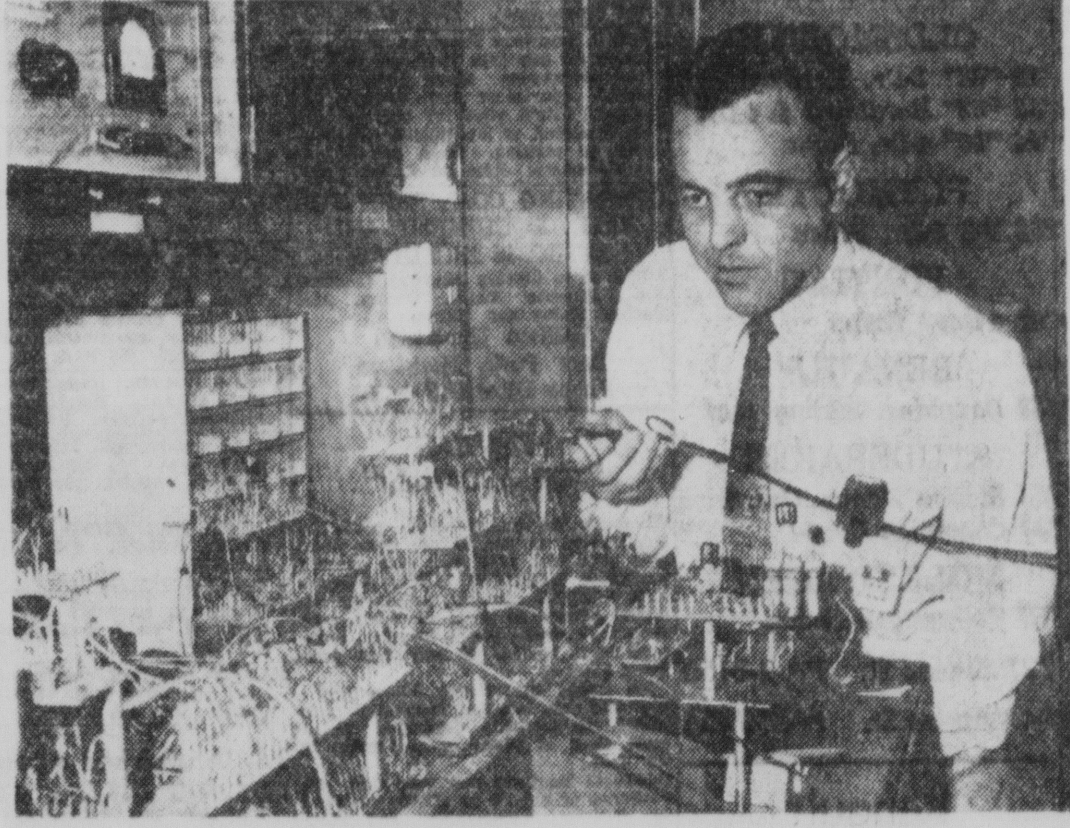

At end of launching platform, Robert Larson, head of ballistic range tests, sights telescope to watch torpedo's entry into water.

Navy's sub-killing torpedo is fired from launcher in test. Camera exposures were made at several hundred per second to catch high speed of torpedo.

Rear view of launcher. Tank, upper right, furnishes compressed air for launchings.

Lot of wiring is used in torpedo. Bill Schneider attaches test wires for check.

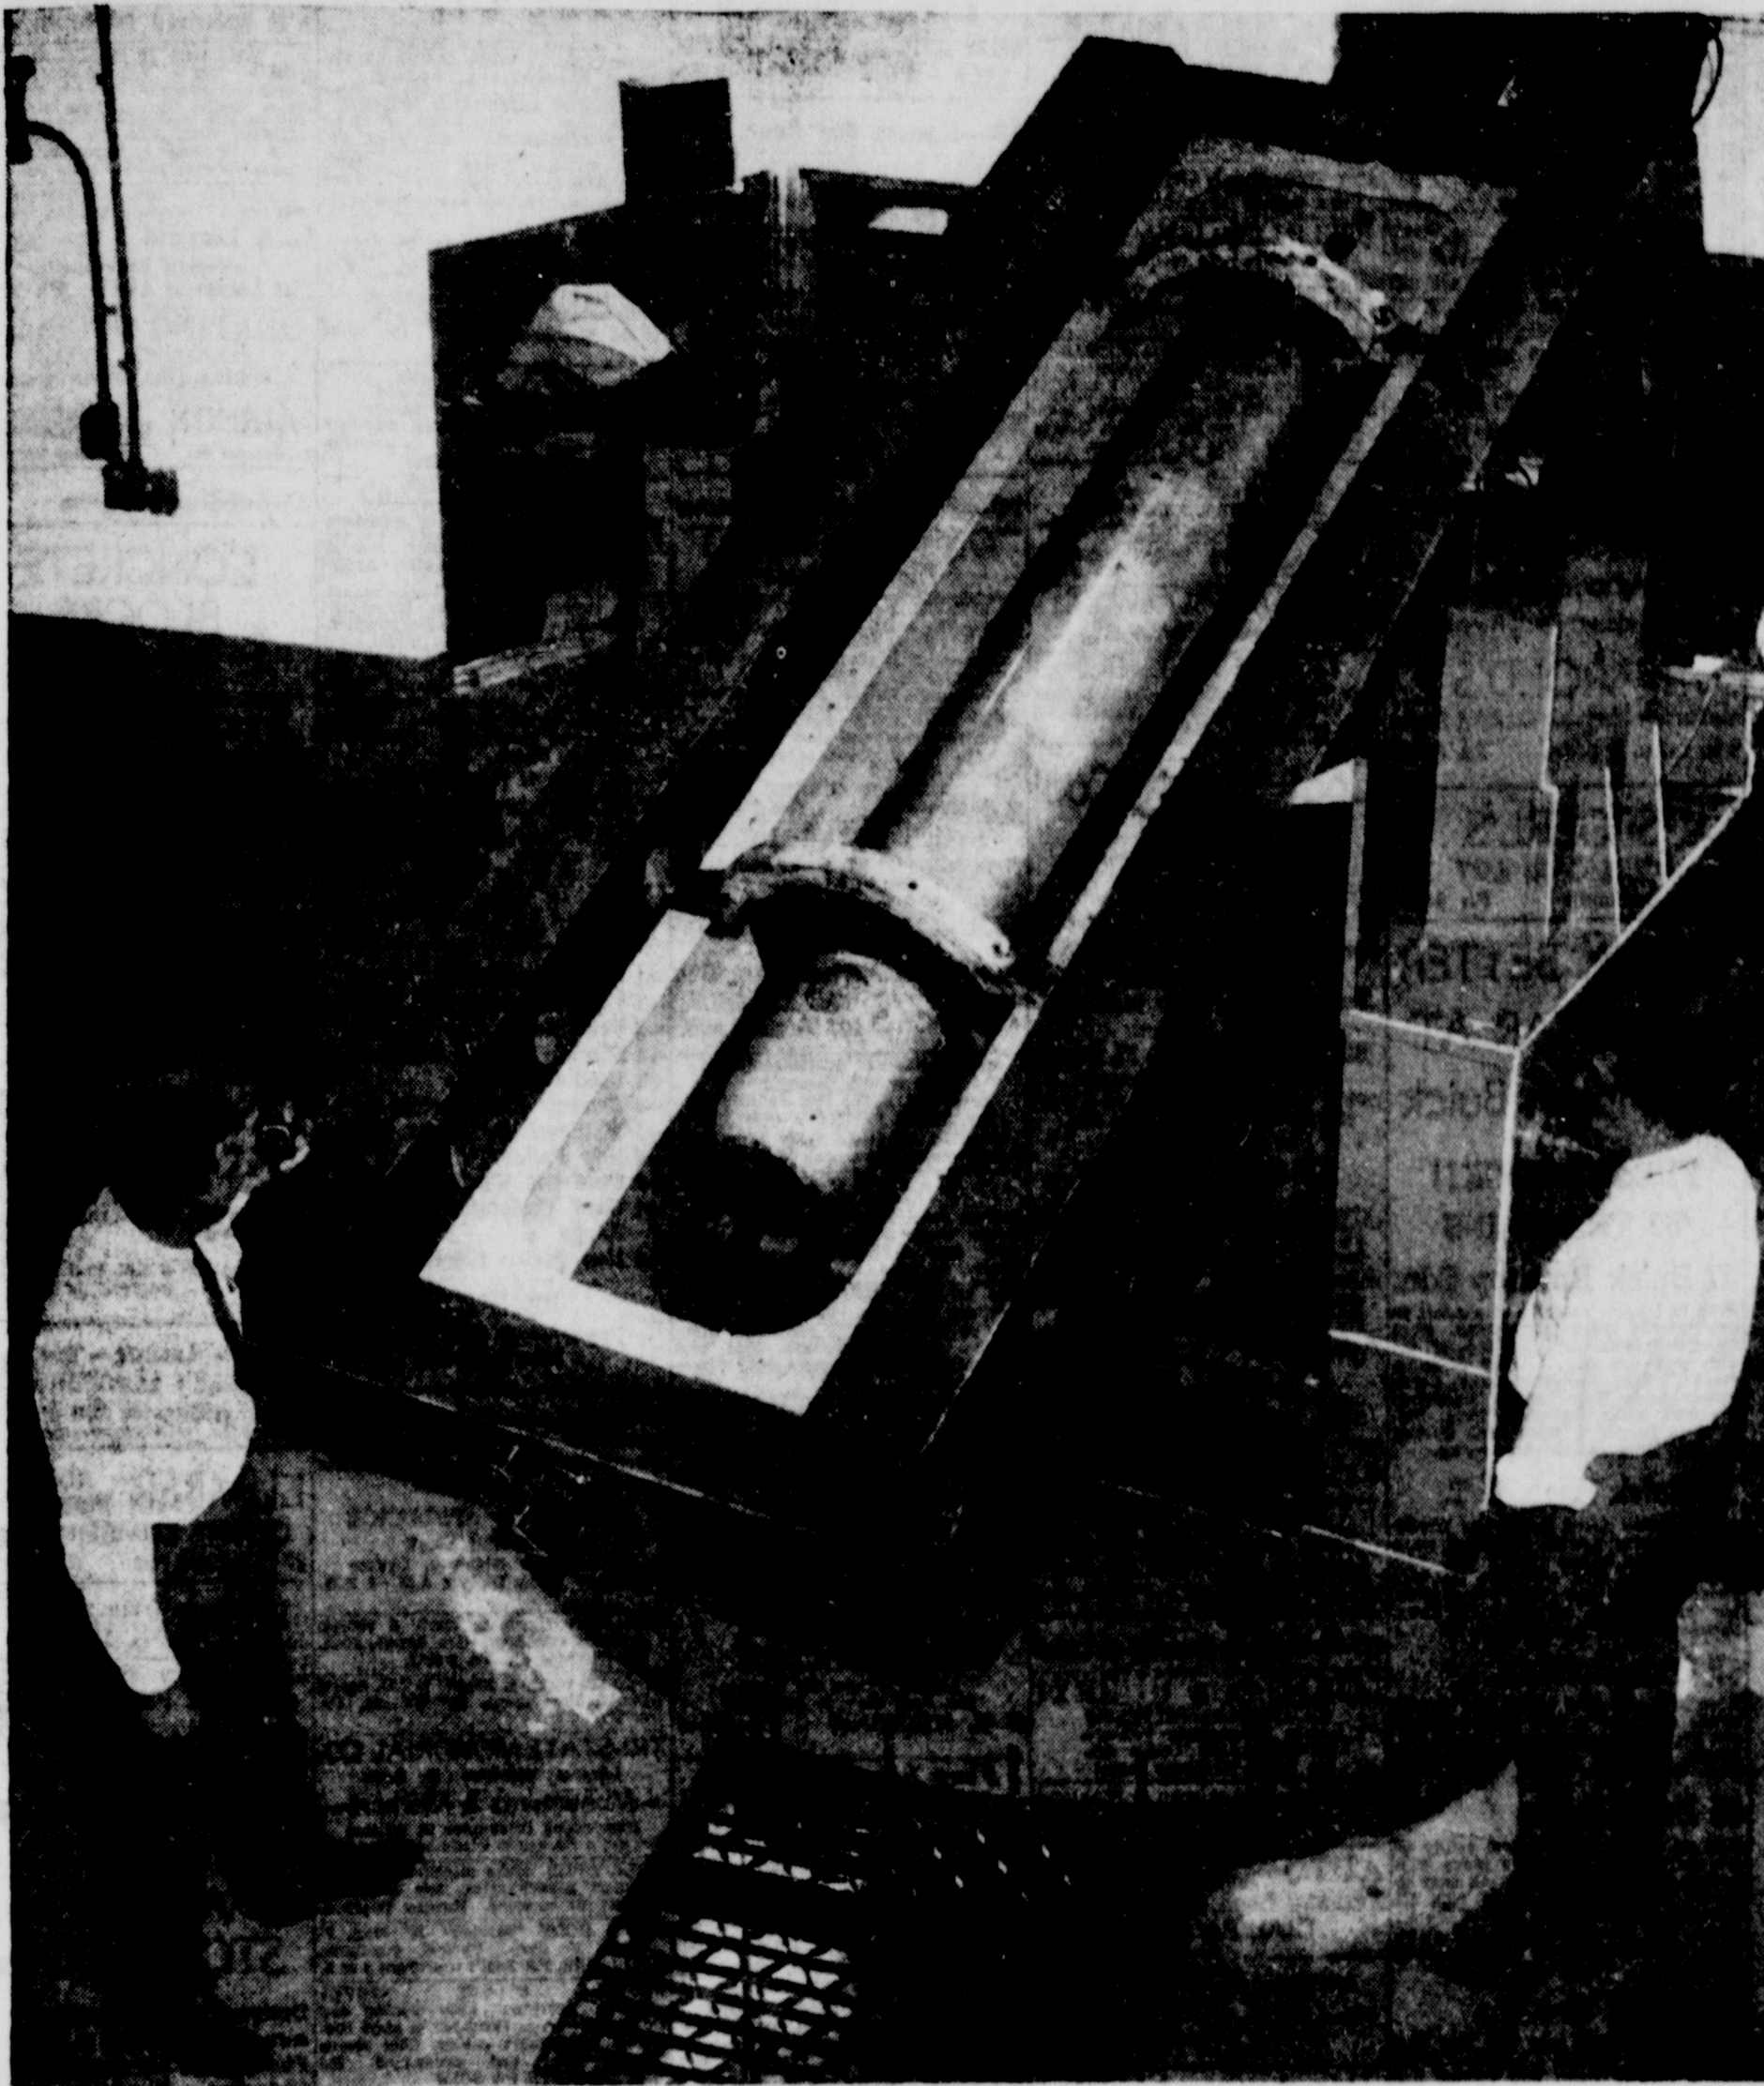

Commander J. J. O'Brien and Douglas Wilcox pose with a RAT (Rocket Assist Torpedo) that was developed at the test station.

Young Driver Killed When Car Wrecks

Lester Green, 21,
Dies Instantly In Moscow Accident

A 21-year-old Moscow youth was killed yesterday afternoon when his automobile skidded on State Route 36 in Moscow about 4 p.m. and rolled over him when he was thrown from the vehicle.

State Police said Lester Lee Green, an unemployed construction worker, was pronounced dead upon arrival at Miners Hospital in Frostburg where physicians said he sustained a fractured skull, lacerated brain and other severe injuries. He apparently died instantly in the crash.

Was Taking Friend Home

The accident occurred as young Green was driving a companion, Robert Leroy Matthews, 31, also of Moscow, to the latter's home. Matthews was treated for lacerations of the head at the hospital and was released, police said.

According to testimony given to state police by the passenger and to physical marks at the scene of the accident, Green was traveling north on the highway at an apparent high rate of speed.

Trooper Bruce E. Diehl, who investigated, said the youth failed to negotiate a sweeping left turn in the road just 50 yards from Matthews' residence.

Rolled Over Several Times

The car apparently hit a shoulder on the right side of the highway, skidded across to the left as Green lost control, spun sideways and rolled over a three-foot embankment, turning over several times. Green was thrown from the vehicle, which rolled over him.

The vehicle was demolished by the crash, police said.

The victim was born at Moscow, a son of Clay and Thelma (Andrews) Green.

Surviving besides his parents is a sister, Miss Thelma Green, at home.

The body is at the Eichhorn Funeral Home in Lonaconing, where services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. by Rev. Byron Keesacker, pastor of Barton Methodist Church. Burial will be in Laurel Hill Cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Tomorrow's program will include an explanation of the seven parts of a den meeting by Mrs. Betty Cox, Pack 16, Johnson Heights PTA, and the three parts of the pack meeting by William F. Grimm, Pack 20, Mt. Royal PTA.

The program also will have a film strip narrated by Mrs. Vernon Reedy, Pack 90, Flintstone PTA, and puzzles and craft items will be shown by Earl Richardson, Pack 30, College Laboratory School PTA, Frostburg.

Charles W. Newman, new field executive for Potomac Council, will present ideas for pack meetings. All parents, Cubmasters, pack committeemen and persons interested in the Cub Scout program are invited to the meeting.

Knox Street Being Widened

Work on the Knox Street improvement project is well under way. As the picture shows, the street will be widened and improved. The work is being done by Orrie Sensabaugh under a $7,256.16 contract awarded by the Mayor and Council. Widening of the street is expected to improve the traffic pattern in that busy area of the city.

Driver Injured As Automobile Hits Stone Wall

House Is Damaged In Another Accident

A 34-year-old Elder Street man was severely injured when his automobile struck a stone wall on Thomas Street early yesterday morning.

George E. Alkire, 114 Elder Street, was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a possible concussion, fractured nose, a deep scalp laceration, multiple abrasions of the head, and lacerations of both legs. He was in "fair" condition last night.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker was injured when the car he was driving skidded around the curve just south of the Wineo Street underpass and struck the corner of a stone wall at 42 Thomas Street. The car was badly damaged and the wall was cracked by the impact of the head-on collision.

Officer James Bolyard said Alkire skidded on the street as he was traveling south toward South Cumberland. He apparently came around the curve too fast, the officer said, and struck the wall in front of the residence of George W. Everly. He was charged with reckless driving.

Police said they found a wallet containing over $500 on the floor of the wrecked vehicle after Alkire was taken to the hospital in a police cruiser. The accident occurred about 1:10 a.m.

In another similar accident at 12:30 a.m. yesterday an automobile struck the porch of the residence of Robert Williams, 711 Washington Street, causing more than $350 damage to the house and nearly demolishing the car.

The driver of the vehicle then pulled away from the scene of the accident, investigating officer Clarence Valentine said. The officer said the car hit a guard rail on the opposite side of the street, and the driver fled.

Police found the badly damaged vehicle abandoned later on Cumberland Street, the officer stated.

Thomas House, 22, of 222 Springdale Street, has been identified as the driver, Officer Valentine said. He posted $302.90 bond on two motor vehicle charges.

Another man, Howard Davis, 22, of Maryland Avenue, faces motor charges also, the officer said, as the two men apparently were racing out Washington Street when the accident occurred.

The two will be given hearings Saturday at 10 a.m. in Trial Magistrates Court.

'Thieves' Get Speedy Action

HAGERSTOWN (AP)— "We'll drive to Hagerstown and pick up a car. Then we'll drive to Cumberland, where we'll pick up another one."

That bit of conversation overheard by a Baltimore man walking by a parked car with three men in it Sunday set the long arm of the law in motion.

He notified State Police it sounded like a car-stealing mob. Authorities in Hagerstown set up a reception committee.

Sure enough, a car like the Baltimore man described came into this city on U. S. 11.

Trooper Clyde B. Tucker tailed the car and radioed the barracks to have a deputy sheriff cut off the vehicle in front. Both police vehicles converged on the surprised occupants of the car. A city police cruiser was on the scene seconds later.

It wasn't long before the men were on their way, though. The driver, Carl D. Faine, explained they were out to repossess a car in Hagerstown, then drive to Cumberland and pick up another one on which the owner couldn't keep up his payments.

They represented a Baltimore repossessing firm.

Jaycees Conduct Pancake Day At State Armory

Today is Pancake Day at the State Armory on South Centre Street.

The Junior Association of Commerce and its auxiliary, the Jaycees, will be serving pancakes and sausages from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. The Jaycees said ticket holders will be served all the pancakes they can eat for the price of one ticket.

People who buy tickets to the event will be able to vote for the girl they think should be crowned Cinderella Pancake II. There are seven entrants for the title: Misses Loraine Hornick and Karen Teter, both of Ridgeley; Miss Ann Drane, Piedmont, W. Va.; Miss Rosalie Femi, LaVale; Miss Jerry Collins, RFD 2, Baltimore Pike; Miss Helen Paxton, RFD 2, Williams Road, and Miss Carol Jane Berry, 221 Mary Street.

The Jaycees said C. L. Beck, local garbage collection contractor, has volunteered the use of one of his trucks for the clean-up operation.

Four Injured In Henderson Ave. Collision

Four persons, three of them members of the same family, were injured last night shortly before 10 o'clock when two cars collided at the intersection of Frederick Street and Henderson Avenue.

Taken to Memorial Hospital were Edgar Merritt, 53, his wife, Juanita Merritt, 48, and their son, Gary Merritt, 14, all of Bedford Road, who were riding in one vehicle. Also taken to the hospital was Frances Childress, 20, of Hampton, Va., a passenger in the second automobile.

City police said the accident occurred when the car driven by Mr. Merritt was struck on the left side by another car operated by Chester Irvan Spinks, Zanesville, Ohio, who is stationed at Langley Air Force Base, Virginia.

The Merritt automobile had just crossed the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, heading northwest on Frederick Street, when it was hit by the airman's vehicle, traveling east on Henderson Avenue.

Force of the impact spun the Merritt car into the same utility pole which was struck by Ronald K. Wingard, 36, of Johnstown, who was fatally injured Saturday, November 1.

Mrs. Merritt, who recently was released from the hospital after surgery, was thrown from her husband's car into the street.

Police said last night they are holding the young airman who admitted he saw the other car but couldn't stop his automobile in time because of the slippery condition of the wet streets.

Health Department Schedules Clinics

The Health Department will hold seven child health clinics this week.

The clinics, which open at 9 a.m., will be held tomorrow at Pennsylvania Avenue School, Wednesday at Westernport, Thursday at City Hall, Lonaconing and Frostburg and Friday at City Hall and Midland.

Other clinics scheduled this week include an eye clinic Tuesday at 8 a.m. in City Hall, prenatal and general purpose clinics Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon in City Hall and a chest clinic Friday from 9 a.m. to noon in City Hall.

The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Education Testing Service, will be given in Maryland on Saturday, February 7, 1959 at Western Maryland College, Westminster.

Lions Club To Meet

The Cumberland Lions Club will hold its regular meeting Wednesday at noon at Central YMCA. The club's board of directors will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Central YMCA.

Democratic Committee To Plan Dinner

Victory Rally Will Be Held

The Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County will meet this evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel for the purpose of planning a victory dinner in January, and to discuss procedures in making recommendations for a number of appointments.

Invited to meet with the committee, according to Thomas B. Finan, chairman, are the four successful local candidates, John Tucker Mason and John J. Rowan, county commissioners-elect, and William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., delegates-elect to the General Assembly.

Mr. Finan said that since the two new county commissioners will take office within about three weeks, on December 2, and the two new delegates will take office in January, it is necessary that the committee meet with them to discuss appointments, program and policy.

New President

One of the two new commissioners will doubtless be the new president of the county board, Mr. Finan noted, since the Republicans will, after December 2, have only a minority representation. William A. Wilson of Midland is the only Republican elected to the board. James Orr, incumbent, and Simeon Green, a former commissioner, were defeated.

Many of the other appointments which will fall to Democrats as a result of the election of a Democratic governor, J. Millard Tawes, will not be made until the early part of next year. These will come before the committee for recommendations later, Mr. Finan said.

Will Plan Dinner

The purpose of the meeting tonight is to plan for a victory dinner to which all elected and defeated candidates will be guests of honor, all party leaders and workers will be invited and all others who wish to attend will be welcomed. The committee hopes to have Mr. Tawes as the guest speaker. The committee expects to name a victory dinner committee tonight.

The meeting this evening will be attended by Mr. Finan, Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg; F. Alan Weatherholt, John R. Kelly and C. William McDermott, Cumberland, and William P. Kelly, Lonaconing, all voting members of the committee; along with Leslie J. Clark, appointed by the committee to serve as secretary, and William L. Wilson, appointed by the committee to serve as the party's treasurer.

Mr. Finan made it clear last night that this meeting is not for the purpose of making decisions or recommendations or nominations on the numerous appointments which must come later, but is to plan the victory dinner and assist the new county commissioners in whatever problems they face in their initial organization.

Varied Fare Is Offered In New Books At Library

Readers with varied interests as the most readable work yet written about the subject.

The old Greek legend of Theseus, the hero-king of Athens, provides material for Mary Rinaldi's latest historical novel, "The King Must Die." It is a recent Book-of-the-Month Club choice.

"The Hard Blue Sky" by Shirley Ann Grau is a moving story of life on an island off the Louisiana coast. Many consider the novel a major triumph for one of the promising younger writers.

Thor Heyerdahl's "Aku-Aku," the September Book-of-the-Month, is the story of his adventure into the lost world of Easter Island.

Junior readers will be interested in "Exploring the Planets" by Roy A. Gallant. Here are the facts about the planetary system. A Junior Literary Guild selection for older readers.

Plenty Of Apples, Not Enough Storage Space

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—The apple crop in the four-state Appalachian belt is about 18 percent larger this year over last season, but there are cold storage facilities for only about six percent more, according to the Appalachian Apple Service.

The service said there "clearly has been an unusually heavy movement out of orchard to fresh channels."

United States Department of Agriculture horticulturists have estimated a crop of 24,670,000 bushels in the Appalachian area, compared with 20,800,000 in 1957. Apples have been moving to market earlier this year than last, the apple service said.

Iser May Have Hitched Ride Toward Romney

Maryland and West Virginia State Police have been alerted that Howard Maurice Iser, 37-year-old prisoner who sawed his way out of Allegany County Jail Wednesday may be hiding in the Romney section.

Iser, facing 10 years for assault and armed robbery, escaped along with Robert C. Bryant, 18, of 446 Lamont Street by sawing bars off two windows and climbing down the rear wall of the county lockup.

Bryant, who was serving a 90-day sentence for unauthorized use of an automobile, surrendered Saturday.

He told police he had been staying in an abandoned house on Oldtown Road where a low-rent housing project is to be constructed. He also informed authorities the escape was made after dark Wednesday with the two escapees crossing over to West Virginia after climbing down from the third floor of the jail.

They walked through the woods to the area of Dixie Inn on Route 28, Bryant said, where Iser picked up a .22 calibre rifle and cigarettes cached there for him.

Bryant then walked back to Cumberland on Thursday and holed up in the abandoned house on Oldtown Road. Then, apparently spurred by hunger and cold, he walked to Rice's Tavern at Gay Street and Oldtown Road, where he told the proprietor to call police.

Harry Rice, the proprietor, said he gave the shivering youth, attired in dungarees and an overall jacket, coffee and a sandwich before phoning police.

Yesterday a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker who lives in Fort Ashby, W. Va., told police he gave a ride to a hitchhiker late Saturday and now believes the man was Iser.

The Fort Ashby resident said he picked up a man carrying a .22 calibre rifle near Wiley Ford about 4:30 p. m. and took him as far as Fort Ashby. He said the hitchhiker told him he was going hunting in the Romney area.

County Voting Returns Are Made Official

Canvass Makes No Important Changes

The official canvass of last Tuesday's election changed the total votes of a number of candidates but made no real alteration in the surprising outcome which saw four Allegany County Democrats elected to public office—the first time any member of the minority party has been successful in 39 years.

Addition of the 119 absentee votes to the 25,520 cast at the polls on election day did change the standing in one race but the change was of no significance. The absentee votes, which were virtually two-to-one Republican, sent Noel Speir Cook into fourth place ahead of Democrat Thomas F. Conlon Jr., who nevertheless is very much a member of the six-man delegation in the House of Delegates.

Mr. Conlon had edged 11 votes ahead of Mr. Cook at the conclusion of the official canvass of the votes polled at the 45 polling places around the county. But Mr. Cook picked up 83 absentee votes to only 44 for Mr. Conlon, to finish 28 votes in front.

19 Write-In Votes

The canvass also revealed that 19 write-in votes were cast Tuesday, 10 of them for George R. Hughes Jr. for State Senator. Mr. Hughes had lost the Republican primary to Senator Charles M. See, who had no opposition in the general election. Three other men got write-in votes for Senator. John D. May had three and Mr. Cook and Estel C. Kelley had one each.

Single write-in votes also were received by Harold E. Naughton for state's attorney, Horace P. Whitworth Jr. for House of Delegates, Bob Elrick, one for register of wills and G. Barb, one for the LaVale Zoning Board.

The official totals in Tuesday's election, including the absentee votes:

For U. S. Senator—J. Glenn Beall, 15,144; Thomas D'Alesandro Jr., 9,047; for Governor—J. Millard Tawes, 13,177; James Patrick Devereux, 9,745; for Comptroller—John A. Derr, 10,203; Louis L. Goldstein, 9,971; for Attorney General—C. Ferdinand Sybert, 10,398; Robert A. Wallace, 9,863; for Congress—DeWitt S. Hyde, 11,744; John R. Foley, 11,068; for judge of Court of Appeals, Stedman Prescott, 1,772.

Md. Teachers See Chance For Raise

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's public school teachers, with a hopeful eye on last Tuesday's election results, figure their chances are good for getting another $400 pay raise next year.

The Maryland State Teachers Assn. has toted up a list of candidates who endorsed the group's legislative program with qualifications. It comes to nearly half of the delegates and senators who will make up the new General Assembly in January.

General approval of the MSTA's program was given by more than half of the successful candidates. None of the 109 who replied to the association's pre-election questionnaire voiced opposition.

Nine of the 29 senators went along with the group's pay raise plan without qualification. Fourteen said they would "stand on my record" of aid to education, while four expressed "general favor" of the program. "General support" was the way two others put it.

Among members of the House of Delegates, 59 of the 123 delegates replied "yes" to the proposal for another raise similar to the $400 granted by the Legislature last winter. A total of 97 said they were generally in favor of the salary hike.

More Progress In Sight For Milk Industry

'Firm, Reasonable' Policy Is Endorsed

Marked improvement has been made in the Cumberland milk shed during the past 2½ years and more progress is in sight if the Allegany County Health Department maintains its present path of "firm and reasonable" enforcement.

This is the major conclusion reached as a result of a milk sanitation survey of processing plants, made last month by Alexander A. Pais, survey officer for the State Health Department, and Harvey Shockley, county milk sanitarian.

The survey covered five processing plants and the dairy farms which supply them with raw milk.

Mr. Pais said that the Allegany County Health Department several years ago inaugurated an active milk sanitation program. Up to now, the theme of the program has been education with moderate enforcement to acquaint producers and plant operators with Maryland's new milk code.

Success In Sight

He said the program has been effective in preparing the dairy industry for improvements now in sight and has brought a marked improvement in milk quality.

The course of action taken by the Health Department in the next few months, he added, will dictate whether maximum or moderate success will be achieved.

Ratings of the five dairies varied from 82 to 92.5 per cent.

The County Health Department wants all dairies to make at least 90 per cent so the milkshed can stay on top.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said the Cumberland milk shed is equal to any in Maryland and that its rating must be kept that way to protect producers' markets.

More milk is produced in the milkshed (about 14,000 gallons a day) than can be used in the Cumberland area. Excess supplies are shipped as far as 106 miles to metropolitan areas which are in short supply.

Two special comments were made following the survey:

May Suspend Permits

Producer farms are being satisfactorily inspected, Mr. Pais said, but the effectiveness of the inspections are often lost due to the Health Department's failure to temporarily suspend permits to ship milk for continued violations of sanitation rules.

Pasteurization plants are not receiving a thorough monthly inspection.

Dr. van Strien pointed out that meeting the new regulations will take time and that sanitarians will continue working toward the goal of full compliance.

Young Driver Killed When Car Wrecks

Lester Green, 21, Dies Instantly In Moscow Accident

A 21-year-old Moscow youth was killed yesterday afternoon when his automobile skidded on State Route 36 in Moscow about 4 p.m. and rolled over him when he was thrown from the vehicle.

State Police said Lester Lee Green, an unemployed construction worker, was pronounced dead upon arrival at Miners Hospital in Frostburg where physicians said he sustained a fractured skull, lacerated brain and other severe injuries. He apparently died instantly in the crash.

Was Taking Friend Home

The accident occurred as young Green was driving a companion, Robert Leroy Matthews, 31, also of Moscow, to the latter's home. Matthews was treated for lacerations of the head at the hospital and was released, police said.

According to testimony given to state police by the passenger and to physical marks at the scene of the accident, Green was traveling north on the highway at an apparent high rate of speed.

Trooper Bruce E. Diehl, who investigated, said the youth failed to negotiate a sweeping left turn in the road just 50 yards from Matthews' residence.

Rolling Over Several Times

The car apparently hit a shoulder on the right side of the highway, skidded across to the left as Green lost control, spun sideways and rolled over a three-foot embankment, turning over several times. Green was thrown from the vehicle, which rolled over him.

The vehicle was demolished by the crash, police said.

The victim was born at Moscow, a son of Clay and Thelma (Andrews) Green.

Surviving besides his parents is a sister, Miss Thelma Green, at home.

The body is at the Eichhorn Funeral Home in Lonaconing, where services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. by Rev. Byron Keesacker, pastor of Barton Methodist Church. Burial will be in Laurel Hill Cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Driver Injured As Automobile Hits Stone Wall

House Is Damaged In Another Accident

A 34-year-old Elder Street man was severely injured when his automobile struck a stone wall on Thomas Street early yesterday morning.

George E. Alkire, 114 Elder Street, was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a possible concussion, fractured nose, a deep scalp laceration, multiple abrasions of the head, and lacerations of both legs. He was in "fair" condition last night.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker was injured when the car he was driving skidded around the curve just south of the Winow Street underpass and struck the corner of a stone wall at 42 Thomas Street. The car was badly damaged and the wall was cracked by the impact of the head-on collision.

Officer James Bolyard said Alkire skidded on the street as he was traveling south toward South Cumberland. He apparently came around the curve too fast, the officer said, and struck the wall in front of the residence of George W. Everly. He was charged with reckless driving.

Police said they found a wallet containing over $500 on the floor of the wrecked vehicle after Alkire was taken to the hospital in a police cruiser. The accident occurred about 1:10 a.m.

In another similar accident at 12:30 a.m. yesterday an automobile struck the porch of the residence of Robert Williams, 711 Washington Street, causing more than $350 damage to the house and nearly demolishing the car.

The driver of the vehicle then pulled away from the scene of the accident, investigating officer Clarence Valentine said. The officer said the car hit a guard rail on the opposite side of the street, and the driver fled.

Police found the badly damaged vehicle abandoned later on Cumberland Street, the officer stated.

Thomas House, 22, of 222 Springdale Street, has been identified as the driver, Officer Valentine said. He posted $302.90 bond on two motor vehicle charges.

Another man, Howard Davis, 22, of Maryland Avenue, faces motor charges also, the officer said, as the two men apparently were racing out Washington Street when the accident occurred.

The two will be given hearings Saturday at 10 a.m. in Trial Magistrates Court.

'Thieves' Get Speedy Action

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — "We'll drive to Hagerstown and pick up a car. Then we'll drive to Cumberland, where we'll pick up another one."

That bit of conversation overheard by a Baltimore man walking by a parked car with three men in it Sunday set the long arm of the law in motion.

He notified State Police it sounded like a car-stealing mob.

Authorities in Hagerstown set up a reception committee.

Sure enough, a car like the Baltimore man described came into this city on U. S. 11.

Trooper Clyde B. Tucker tailed the car and radioed the barracks to have a deputy sheriff cut off the vehicle in front. Both police vehicles converged on the surprised occupants of the car. A city police cruiser was on the scene seconds later.

It wasn't long before the men were on their way, though. The driver, Carl D. Faine, explained they were out to repossess a car in Hagerstown, then drive to Cumberland and pick up another one on which the owner couldn't keep up his payments.

They represented a Baltimore repossessing firm.

Today is Pancake Day at the State Armory on South Centre Street.

The Junior Association of Commerce and its auxiliary, the Jaycees, will be serving pancakes and sausages from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. The Jaycees said ticket holders will be served all the pancakes they can eat for the price of one ticket.

People who buy tickets to the event will be able to vote for the girl they think should be crowned Cinderella Pancake II. There are seven entrants for the title: Misses Loraine Hornick and Karen Teter, both of Ridgeley; Miss Ann Drane, Piedmont, W. Va.; Miss Rosalie Femi, LaVale; Miss Jerry Collins, RFD 2, Baltimore Pike; Miss Helen Paxton, RFD 2, Williams Road, and Miss Carol Jane Berry, 221 Mary Street.

The Jaycees said C. L. Beck, local garbage collection contractor, has volunteered the use of one of his trucks for the clean-up operation.

Four Injured In Henderson Ave. Collision

Four persons, three of them members of the same family, were injured last night shortly before 10 o'clock when two cars collided at the intersection of Frederick Street and Henderson Avenue.

Taken to Memorial Hospital were Edgar Merritt, 53; his wife, Juanita Merritt, 48, and their son, Gary Merritt, 14, all of Bedford Road, who were riding in one vehicle. Also taken to the hospital was Frances Childress, 20, of Hampton, Va., a passenger in the second automobile.

City police said the accident occurred when the car driven by Mr. Merritt was struck on the left side by another car operated by Chester Irvin Spinks, Zanesville, Ohio, who is stationed at Langley Air Force Base, Virginia. The Merritt automobile had just crossed the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, heading north-west on Frederick Street, when it was hit by the airman's vehicle, traveling east on Henderson Avenue.

Force of the impact spun the Merritt car into the same utility pole which was struck by Ronald K. Wingard, 36, of Johnstown, who was fatally injured Saturday, November 1.

Mrs. Merritt, who recently was released from the hospital after surgery, was thrown from her husband's car into the street.

Police said last night they are holding the young airman who admitted he saw the other car but couldn't stop his automobile in time because of the slippery condition of the wet streets.

Democratic Committee To Plan Dinner

Victory Rally Will Be Held

The Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County will meet this evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel for the purpose of planning a victory dinner in January, and to discuss procedures in making recommendations for a number of appointments.

Invited to meet with the committee, according to Thomas B. Finan, chairman, are the four successful local candidates, John Tucker Mason and John J. Rowan, county commissioners-elect, and William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., delegates-elect to the General Assembly.

Mr. Finan said that since the two new county commissioners will take office within about three weeks, on December 2, and the two new delegates will take office in January, it is necessary that the committee meet with them to discuss appointments, program and policy.

One of the two new commissioners will doubtless be the new president of the county board, Mr. Finan noted, since the Republicans will, after December 2, have only a minority representation. The committee expects to have Mr. Tawes as the guest speaker. The committee expects to name a victory dinner committee tonight.

The meeting this evening will be attended by Mr. Finan, Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg; F. Allan Weatherholt, John R. Kelly and C. William McDermott, Cumberland, and William P. Kelly, Lonaconing, all voting members of the committee; along with Leslie J. Clark, appointed by the committee to serve as secretary, and William L. Wilson, appointed by the committee to serve as the party's treasurer.

Mr. Finan made it clear last night that this meeting is not for the purpose of making decisions or recommendations or nominations on the numerous appointments which must come later, but is to plan the victory dinner and assist the new county commissioners in whatever problems they face in their initial organization.

People fascinated by H. V. Morton's popular travel books will be delighted with "In Search of Wales," the librarians report. Traveling my motor, foot and rail, the author explores the picturesque country, meets its people and is enchanted by its many legends.

Md. Teachers See Chance For Raise

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's public school teachers, with a hopeful eye on last Tuesday's election results, figure their chances are good for getting another $400 pay raise next year.

The Maryland State Teachers Assn. has voted up a list of candidates who endorsed the group's legislative program with qualifications. It comes to nearly half of the delegates and senators who will make up the new General Assembly in January.

General approval of the MSTA's program was given by more than half of the successful candidates. None of the 109 who replied to the association's pre-election questionnaire voiced opposition.

Nine of the 29 senators went along with the group's pay raise plan without qualification. Fourteen said they would "stand on my record" of aid to education, while four expressed "general favor" of the program. "General support" was the way two others put it.

Among members of the House of Delegates, 59 of the 123 delegates replied "yes" to the proposal for another raise similar to the $400 granted by the Legislature last winter. A total of 97 said they were generally in favor of the salary hike.

More Progress In Sight For Milk Industry

'Firm, Reasonable' Policy Is Endorsed

Marked improvement has been made in the Cumberland milk shed during the past 2½ years and more progress is in sight if the Allegany County Health Department maintains its present path of "firm and reasonable" enforcement.

This is the major conclusion reached as a result of a milk sanitation survey of processing plants, made last month by Alexander A. Pais, survey officer for the State Health Department, and Harvey Shockley, county milk sanitarian.

The survey covered five processing plants and the dairy farms which supply them with raw milk.

Mr. Pais said that the Allegany County Health Department several years ago inaugurated an active milk sanitation program. Up to now, the theme of the program has been education with moderate enforcement to acquaint producers and plant operators with Maryland's new milk code.

Success In Sight

He said the program has been effective in preparing the dairy industry for improvements now in sight and has brought a marked improvement in milk quality.

The course of action taken by the Health Department in the next few months, he added, will dictate whether maximum or moderate success will be achieved.

Ratings of the five dairies varied from 82 to 92.5 per cent. The County Health Department wants all dairies to make at least 90 per cent so the milkshed can stay on top.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said the Cumberland milk shed is equal to any in Maryland and that its rating must be kept that way to protect producers' markets.

More milk is produced in the milkshed (about 14,000 gallons a day) than can be used in the Cumberland area. Excess supplies are shipped as far as 106 miles to metropolitan areas which are in short supply.

Two special comments were made following the survey:

May Suspend Permits

Producer farms are being satisfactorily inspected, Mr. Pais said, but the effectiveness of the inspections are often lost due to the Health Department's failure to temporarily suspend permits to ship milk for continued violations of sanitation rules.

Pasteurization plants are not receiving a thorough monthly inspection.

Dr. van Strien pointed out that meeting the new regulations will take time and that sanitarians will continue working toward the goal of full compliance.

Non-Resident Dumping Fees Of $10 Slated

Ordinance Goes To Mayor, Council

Non residents who use the Cumberland dump will share in the cost of its operation under an ordinance which goes before the Mayor and Council this morning.

The ordinance deals with the operation, maintenance and control of the City Dump, sets up charges for use by non-residents and lists penalties for violations.

The chief impact will fall upon the some 2,500 families not living within the city limits who for years have enjoyed free use of the city facilities.

It requires that commercial haulers serving non-resident customers pay $10 a year per customer to the City of Cumberland for the use of the city services.

The ordinance points out that the City of Cumberland spends $72,000 a year in connection with its program of garbage collection and the maintenance of the city dump, which has been used not only for residents but by approximately 2,500 families not living within the city limits.

Is Filling Up

The city, it points out, has paid the entire cost of the operation and maintenance of the dump, as well as the cost of the land.

The area now used, the ordinance continues, is almost filled and the city will soon be required, at large cost, to acquire another location or construct an incinerator.

Under the new plan, the City Dump will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon.

Residents who wish to use the dump regularly may obtain a permit from the city engineer's office for $1 a year.

Residents who wish to dump on an intermittent basis may use the dump free after identifying themselves to the operator of the dump.

Fees to be paid by commercial haulers
